

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

PUBLISHERS' STATEMENT.

THE nucleus of this catalogue was prepared by Hon. NATHANIEL C. MOAK, for use in his lectures before the Students of the Albany Law School — Class of 1880-1,—entitled “Books, their Selection and Use.” The “Subject Index” of elementary works, was printed by the students for private use. A few copies were distributed to their friends and the press. Having received several applications for copies, Mr. Moak kindly placed the matter at our disposal, provided some one would undertake the somewhat arduous labor of its completion, arrangement, proper printing, and add an index. This was, at our request, undertaken and completed, by JOHN T. COOK, Esq.

It is a catalogue prepared by a lawyer, for use by lawyers, rather than a bookseller's catalogue. In fact it is almost a legal bibliography. As the “alphabetical list of elementary works,” was printed after the “abbreviated citations,” a few works which have been published while this catalogue was going through the press, have no abbreviated citation given therefor.

As lawyers are frequently obliged to consult scientific works, Mr. Moak had prepared, in his subject index for the students, a list of those which his experience had shown to be useful. They are retained in the alphabetical list of elementary works, and are also given in the “Subject Index” herein. With a view to bring, as far as possible, the constantly increasing volume of law on all subjects within the ready view of the practitioner, the “Subject Index,” was made, by Mr. Moak, as full and as accurate as possible. It will undoubtedly be of great service to the profession and also to the trade.

No attempt has been made to give the statutes of the various States.

Those of England (page 264), and of the United States (page 175), most generally in use, are given. Those of New York are, we believe, all accurately given (pages 157, 158 and 159), though as each chapter of the colonial laws was originally printed separately, and some of such are occasionally bound in with the different compilations thereof, it is possible there may be volumes in existence containing one or more chapters or sessions of colonial laws not referred to in the editions, of such laws, given in this catalogue.

The editions named are those now regarded as the best. Where there is an American edition of an English work, and a later English edition has been published, both are given.

RULES FOR CITATIONS.

Citations, if not sufficiently definite to point at once to the authority intended to be referred to, frequently cause loss of time and great vexation. The observance of a few rules would greatly tend to simplify them and sometimes give counsel the benefit of an authority which is lost for want of time or patience in the court to hunt it up if incorrectly given. The following rules, though by no means as full as could be given, will, if observed, it is believed, be useful.

1. In using abbreviations never use simply the initial letter. Thus B. and A. may refer to Barnewall and Adolphus, or Barnewall and Alderson; B. and B. to Ball and Beatty, or Broderip and Bingham; C. and M. to Carrington and Marshman, or Crompton and Meeson; M. and S. to Maule and Selwyn, or Moore and Scott; it is far better to use Barn. and Adol., Barn. and Ald., Ball and B., Brod. and Bing., Carr. and Marsh., Crompt. and Mees., Maule and S., Moore and S., etc. So in New York, "Barb." is the usual citation for Barbour's Reports of the Supreme Court of that State, and in Arkansas "Barb." was, until within a few years, the usual citation for Barber's Reports of that State. So in New Jersey "Harr." was until recently the usual citation for Harrison's Reports of that State, and in Delaware "Harr." was, and still is, the usual citation for Harrington's Reports of that State. H. and M. in England is used for Hemming and Miller's Chancery Reports, and in Virginia for Henning and Munford; while they might be understood in England and Virginia, obviously neither should be used elsewhere. Always make the abbreviation long enough, and definite enough, to indicate clearly what it is intended to represent.

2. In citing a case from reports always give the name of the parties, plaintiff and defendant. If by mistake a wrong volume or page be given by counsel or the printer, the authority may generally be easily found from the table of cases in the English, the United States, or a State, digest.

3. If examining a report of any country or State other than your own, remember reports may be differently cited by the courts of the former than by those of your State, and if a citation puzzles you, endeavor to find the method of citation by the courts of the forum.

Thus in Upper Canada, the Queen's Bench Reports of that Province are cited as U. C. R. (Upper Canada Reports), as the Queen's Bench is the court (the highest court of original jurisdiction), and the Common Pleas as C. P.

If you were to so cite them in New York, no idea of the report intended would be conveyed, but to make your citation intelligent and definite to a judge of that State, you would cite them thus: "U. C. Q. B.," "U. C. Com. Pl.," "Grant's U. C. Chy.," etc. In England, Coke's Reports are, by common consent, spoken of as the reports of that country and are frequently cited thus: Hoe's Case, 5 Rep. 70 b.; Wymark's Case, 5 Rep. 74 a.

4. In citing a reprint of any original report, where the original paging is given by figures in the margin or elsewhere, always cite it as of the original report and not by the reprint. Thus: The King v. Sandhurst, 6 Adolph. & Ell. 130, and not The King v. Sandhurst, 33 Eng. Com. Law Rep. 90. If the judge to whom the citation be made do not possess the English Common Law Reports, but does the original report, he will be able, if cited as of the original, to readily find the case.

If you cite from the English Common Law Reports and prefer to aid him still further, you may very properly cite it thus: The King v. Sandhurst, 6 Adol. & Ell. 130; 33 Eng. Com. L. Rep., when, if he possess the English Common Law Reports, he will at once be informed that 6 Adolphus & Ellis is in volume 33 of the English Common Law, and will not be compelled to look to see which volume of the English Common Law contains that volume of Adolphus & Ellis.

Thus also: Ruston v. Ruston, 2 Dall. 243, 1 Am. Dec. 283; Clark v. Barnes, 76 N. Y. 301, 32 Am. Rep. 306; Moet v. Pickering, 8 Chy. Div. 372, 25 Eng. Rep. 356.

In order to facilitate finding the original reports in the British Crown Cases, English Reports, English Admiralty Reports, English Chancery Reports and English Common Law Reports, an alphabetical list of the volumes in each is hereafter given. It follows the chronological list of English Reports.

5. In citing elementary works, which have more than one edition, always give the edition cited. If you are in doubt whether there be more than one, err on the safe side and give it. If the paging of the original edition be preserved by figures in the margin, give the marginal paging also. Thus: 1 Pars. on Cont. (6th ed.), 147, marg. p. 186. If the court do not happen to have the sixth edition, the passage cited, if in the others, will be readily found by the marginal paging.

6. If the work be divided into sections or paragraphs, as many recent works are, cite it by the section. The citation can then usually be found in any edition.

7. In citing statutes always cite the original of the statute and then the amendment thereto, if any. Thus, 1 Laws 1870, p. 179, § 1, as amended by 1 Laws 1872, p. 764, § 1.

8. If a compilation of statutes be cited, always cite the original of the compilation by the marginal or original paging and then the edition cited and the paging of that, and the amendment, if any. Thus, 2 R. S. 457, § 2, 2 Edm. St. 477, as amended by Laws 1873, p. 588. If the judge or person looking for the citation do not possess the edition cited, he will readily find it in some other.

9. If the compilation of statutes cited, contain any thing more than the original of the compilation and amendments thereto, always cite the original statute first, and then the compilation. Thus:

Laws 1858, chap. 822, § 5, 8 R. S. (6th ed.) 688.

Laws 1855, chap. 511, § 7, 8 R. S. (6th ed.) 580, § 9.

Dig.....	Justiniani Digestæ Sive Pandectæ.*

* The Digests of Pandecta are divided into 50 Books; each Book is divided into Titles, and each Title into Laws, and the Laws generally into Parts or Paragraphs. The first paragraph is not numbered, and is usually quoted by the abbreviation in pr. (in principio). The last paragraph is sometimes quoted by the words in fine, or § ult. (paragraphus ultimus). The Digest is variously quoted by the letters D or P, or II, or ff; ff is supposed to be a corruption of the D, with a stroke through the middle, or perhaps o' the Greek II.

The ancient mode of quotation was by mentioning the initial words of the Law and of the paragraph, with the initial words of the title. This made a reference to the General Index necessary, e. g., L. Profectitia, § si Pater, D de jure dotium; or, in reversed order, D de jure dotium L Profectitia, § si Pater. Afterward the quotation was L Profectitia 5, § si Pater 6, D de jure dotium; and latterly L 5, § 6, D de jure dotium; or, more correctly, using the letters fr. instead of L, since the passages were not laws, but fragments or excerpts from the writings of the Jurisprudents, fr. 5, § 6, D de jure dotium. The modern mode avoids all reference to the words. It is thus: fr. 5, § 6, D 23, 3; or, in reversed order, D 23, tit. 3, fr. 5, § 6, or, shortly, D 23, 3, 5, 6, i. e., Digest.

* The Institutes of Justinian are divided into four books; each book is divided into titles, and each title into paragraphs, of which the first, described by the letters pr., or princip., is not numbered. The old method of citing the Institutes was to give the commencing words of the paragraph and of the title, e. g., § si adversus, Inst. de Nuptiis. Sometimes, the number of the paragraph was introduced, e. g., 12 Si adversus, Inst. de Nuptiis. The modern way is to give the number of the book, title, and paragraph, Inst., I. 10, 12, t. c., Inst. Lib. I., tit. 10, § 12.

*The Novels, or New Constitutions, are explanatory of the Code. The greatest part of these Novels was composed in Greek, owing to the seat of empire being then in Constantinople. Some, however, were published in Latin, and have been noticed by Antonius Augustinus. There are four translations of the Novels. The Novels are quoted by their respective numbers, chapters and paragraphs, e. g., Nov. 89, c. 9, § 1.

After Justinian's death, some part of his Novels, to the number of 168, were collected and reduced into one volume, together with thirteen of the Greek Edicts, which make up the fourth and last division of the Corpus Juris Civilis.

*The Law Times is a Weekly Law Newspaper, large folio. The first 17 volumes contain reports of cases mingled with other matters of a legal character. Cases therein are simply cited as Law Times, Vol. 1, et seq. Commencing with Vol. 18 to and including Vol. 41, the reports were published separately, the same size as the newspaper. They are usually bound with the newspaper, either preceding or following it, and are cited as Law Times Reports, Vols. 18, et seq. Commencing with Vol. 42, the Law Times Reports have been published in octavo and should be cited as Law Times Reports, N. S. Vol. 1, et seq. The newspaper, still a large folio, was numbered on continuously, Vol. 70 being now in courses of publication.

Addison on the Law of Torts.

Wrongs and their Remedies. Being a treatise on the Law of Torts. By C. G. Addison, Esq. Sixth Edition. By F. S. P. Wolferstan, Esq., of the Inner Temple, Barrister-at-Law. 4th American Edition. By Edwin Baylies, Counselor-at-Law. 2 Vols. 1891. 8vo., Law Sheep. $6 00 net.

American Cases on Contract.

Arranged in accordance with the analysis of Anson on Contract, and edited by Ernest W. Huffcut, Cornell University, School of Law, and Edwin H. Woodruff, Leland Stanford Junior University. 1 vol. 8vo. 750 pages. $5 00 net

This volume of Cases on Contract is intended to accompany Anson on Contract, Lawson on Contract, or other elementary works, or to be used in connection with lecture courses, or without either text or lectures, as the teacher or student may desire. The cases have been selected with special reference to the needs of law students, and are intended to illustrate the essential principles of the law of contract. Where these principles are well established, the editors seek by the cases to present the principles in concrete form, illustrating and applying them. Where the principle is in dispute or doubt, cases are given illustrating and discussing the question as viewed by different jurisdictions, and notes are appended directing attention to other and complete authorities. American cases have been printed to the exclusion of English cases for three reasons: first, because the elementary text books invariably discuss the leading English cases with sufficient fullness; and second, because it is believed that our own Federal and State courts have examined and decided with equal ability and for us higher authority, most of the principles applicable to the law of contract; and third, because there are already enough available collections of English cases. The aim of this compilation is to present a collection of American cases fully illustrating the subject of contract.

Benedict's Admiralty Practice.

The American Admiralty, its Jurisdiction and Practice, with practical forms and directions. By Erastus C. Benedict, LL. D. Third Edition. 1894.

$6 00 net.

It is now twenty-four years since the publication of the second edition of this work and fourteen years since the death of its learned author. With the lapse of years have come changes in the practice of the admiralty due in part to legislation and in part to changes in the rules of the courts.

A new edition of the American Admiralty, which should embody those changes, seemed to be called for.

The principal changes made have been to substitute, for the chapters on the practice on appeals to the Circuit and Supreme Courts, a new chapter on the practice on appeals to the Circuit Courts of Appeals, which system was substituted for the former one by the act of Congress of 1891, and to introduce a chapter on proceedings in limitation of liability cases, which have almost entirely grown up since the publication of the second edition. Other minor changes have also been found necessary.

Changes have also been made in the forms, which are added to the text, omitting some which seemed no longer useful, adding such new ones as seemed to be required, and making some changes in all, to bring them into conformity with the new rules of the district courts, which will be found in the appendix.

Many new authorities have been added to the citations.

This treatise investigates one branch of this important subject, viz., "How the legal interest in movable corporeal property is affected by a sale of it."

Nothing could exceed the logical exactitude with which the author adhered to his theme — the effect of the contract on the property in the goods.

A work like the above requires no recommendation.

Burdick's Cases on Torts.

Selected and Arranged for the Use of Students in connection with Pollock on Torts. By Francis M. Burdick. Law Sheep. Second Edition. 1895. 403 pp. $4 50 net.

The Cases have been selected with especial reference to their use by law students in connection with Pollock on Torts. As a compact and scientific statement of the general principles of this branch of law, Sir Frederick Pollock's treatise is unrivaled. It is therefore admirably suited to the student's needs. But its accomplished author has rarely discussed the decisions of American Courts. The present volume is intended as a supplement in this direction, containing American cases chosen and arranged with a view to illustrate the text and to give to the student an adequate conception of abstract legal doctrine, by showing its application to concrete facts. Professor Burdick was assisted by Professor Collins, of Cornell University School of Law, who placed his valuable notes on this subject at his disposal.

"We approve of his idea, and consider that such a book was decidedly wanted. They are called cases in 'Modern Equity.' As the rules of Equity are not like the rules of Common Law, supposed to have been established from time immemorial. The doctrines are progressive, refined, altered and improved; and if we want to know what the rules of Equity are, we must look, of course, rather to the modern than the more ancient cases."

The American notes are concise and to the point.

Tompkins. A more able and independent judiciary never existed at any one period in any Court of the United States.

This is a book of great originality and research. It is distinguished for all the qualities which have made that of Williams a standard. It is quite as systematic in the arrangement, as lucid in the statement, and rather more compact and luminous. The student can make no choice except that of both – this book first and Williams after.

Attention must be called to Chapter XIII on the rule in Shelley's Case, which is entirely novel, and treats the subject, which is of the greatest importance, in a clear manner, and much fuller than Mr. Williams. The chapter on the rules of limitation at Common Law may also be noticed, p. 69; also Chapter XXV, p. 272, on Concurrent Ownership.

'Chase's Blackstone.

Commentaries on the Laws of England, in four books, by Sir William Blackstone, Knight, one of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas; so abridged as to retain all portions of the original work which are of historical or practical value. By George Chase, LL. D., Professor of Municipal Law in the Law School of Columbia College, New York City. Third Edition. 1168 pp. 1890. 8vo., Law Sheep. $6 00 net.

The special additional merits of the Third Edition are as follows:

1. The notes are copious, and the aim has been to make them as clear, systematic and comprehensive as Blackstone's own text. Many of them have been entirely rewritten, so as to embody in them the latest English and American decisions and statutes. Topics too meagerly treated by Blackstone, as Master and Servant, Easements, Fixtures, etc., are here fully developed. The citations are more recent than those to be found in any other edition of Blackstone, and include valuable American decisions from all parts of the country.

2. Important appendixes have been added for the special advantage of students. These include a Glossary, defining and explaining words and phrases used by Blackstone, which have a peculiar or technical meaning; a translation of the passages from the Latin, French and other languages, which are found scattered through the Commentaries in great numbers; a full table of English, Irish, Scotch and American Law Reports, with the usual abbreviations referring to them, a Table of English Regnal Years, to show when the various English statutes, cited in the text, were enacted, etc. The Translation fills twenty-five large pages and will be found of special value by students unacquainted with Latin, French, etc., while those whose knowledge of these languages is limited, or has become more or less a faded remembrance, will also find its aid serviceable.

3. Since the first edition was issued, a new and much fuller Index has been added to the work.

Code Amendments. 1896.$1.00*Code of Civil Procedure of the State of New York.

A third and completely revised edition of Stover's New York Annotated Code of Civil Procedure, with all amendments thereto down to and including those enacted in 1896, by R. M. Stover, of the New York Bar. Fully and exhaustively annotated to date by Amasa J. Parker, Jr. 3 Vols. Royal 8vo., 3,360 pages. Sept., 1896. $19 50 net.

The object of this work is to furnish a fully annotated Code of Civil Procedure within the briefest limits.

The whole work is comprised within three volumes of such convenient size as to be easily handled for daily use and reference—much smaller in bulk than those of other works on the same subject notwithstanding the great number of recent cases now for the first time annotated. This reduction in bulk has been attained not by omitting any case in point, but by cutting down the statements of the questions decided, in nearly all of the cases, to the briefest intelligible form.

All the adjudicated cases down to the time of going to press, contained in the official as well as those in the unofficial reports, have been annotated and will be found under the appropriate sections.

The number of decisions in the various courts of record and surrogate's courts, is annually increasing with the steady growth of the business and population of the State. Since July 1, 1890, when the last annotated Code, by any publisher, was issued, there have been more than eight thousand cases decided, which are reported in about eighty volumes of reports; all of which cases have been carefully examined, and those pertaining to the Code will be found digested in the notes to this work.

The practitioner will find in this work a complete and comprehensive guide to the practice of the courts of this State.

A skeleton index of the contents of the first and second volumes respectively is appended to each of those volumes and a full and exhaustive index to the whole work will be found at the end of the third volume.

This final index covers fully not only the subjects of the respective sections but also of the notes and of the acts on practice, making any desired point quickly reachable—a time saver of great value to the busy lawyer.

An entirely new feature of this work is that the respective pages will show the chapter, title, and article under which each section is contained.

No lawyer should be without these reports. The railroad cases alone in them are worth the price of the set. They comprehend a period of seventy-seven years, or, in other words, almost our entire existence as an independent people. Their utility, and the high appreciation in which they are held, are shown by the frequency of their citation, not only in all the law-books of the day, but in cases on trial, and in the written opinions of judges.

The last edition of this work was published in 1870, and for twenty years has stood almost without a rival, certainly without an equal. Since the last edition went to the press, the New Constitution, the Code of Civil Procedure, the Code of Criminal Procedure and the Penal Code have all gone into effect. In the present edition the work is conformed to all these, and much new matter added from recent statutes, and many new cases cited.

The merits of the original work are too well known to require comment. It is sought to enhance the value of the edition by adding to the more important topics treated references to the latest statutes of the various States, and giving numerous citations of recent cases. On the whole it is thought that the present edition of this standard work is by far the best book on the subject, both for the judge on the bench and the attorney at the bar, that is now offered to the profession.

This work has been prepared with great care, the matter being obtained by reference to the entire case and not merely from the head-note, and, it is believed, will meet the long felt want of an index or handy reference digest of these reports. It contains the points decided, briefly stated, except that, in a few instances where such statement would occupy too much space, the decision is so referred to as to be readily found; arranged with full cross references and sub-heads.

It contains also a full table of those Session Laws which are referred to and explained.

The citations are by volume and page, the title of the cases being omitted, and when it is considered that several references are made to each of the 15,000 cases reported, it will be seen that great economy of space has been gained, while to compensate for this omission great care has been exercised to ensure accuracy.

The work is printed in large, clear type, on the best quality of paper, and bound in best law sheep.

This volume is supplementary to Danforth and Wickes' Digest, published in 1886, and with that volume will furnish the profession a complete reference Digest or Index of Court of Appeals decisions in two volumes of convenient size.

The matter contained in Danforth and Wickes' Digest, volume 2, published in 1886, is embraced in this work, with the additional cases contained in twenty-six volumes of reports.

The table of cases cited has been carefully revised and brought down to date, making it the most complete and valuable table of reference at the present time.

This work is uniform in size with the New York Reports, and is printed in large, clear type on the best quality of paper, and bound in law sheep.

De Colyar on Guarantees.

A Treatise on the Law of Guarantees and of Principal and Surety. By Henry Anselm DeColyar. From the Second Edition. London, 1885; American, 1887. 392 pp. Law Sheep. $3 00 net.

The importance of the subject is so vast that no lawyer should be without a work which treats exclusively thereon. No law library is complete without it. In his preface the writer tells us he has derived considerable assistance from a treatise on "The Validity of Verbal Agreements," by a learned American jurist, Mr. Throop, and consulted numerous works, English and American.

The author has cited numerous American cases in support of his text, and shown how they have in many instances been followed and adopted in England. For example, take pp. 254-255 upon the question as to the effect of a surety discharging one of his several co-sureties; and as to bringing into hotchpot. Again, on p. 227, upon the rights of surety against the creditor before payment, to compel him to sue. Again, on p. 156, in support of the doctrine that the liability must be proved against the surety in the same way as against the principal debtor.

"We have no hesitation in pronouncing this to be one of the best law books that have been published for some years past. It possesses in an equal degree the merit of being learned and the merit of being practical; and its learning is regulated by a great deal of judgment. Without in the slightest degree approaching the character of antiquarian dissertation, its frequent citations of the older reports and text-books gave it a completeness and value which are wanting to the works of writers who have never bestowed more than an occasional glance upon the sources of the law. . . . An interesting feature of the book is the glossary of archaic and rare words, in which the reader may find both entertainment and instruction." — Solicitors' Journal.

De Gex, Jones & Smith.....	1862-1865	4 "	16.00

These reports are also labeled English Chancery Reports, Vols. XLVII, XLVIII, XLIX, etc.

The series begins with McNaghten & Gordon's Reports, and close with the Reports of De Gex, Jones & Smith; filling up the entire gap between the second volume of Phillips's Reports and the first volume of the Law Reports.

The Reports are published entire, without any alteration or diminution of the text or notes. In addition to the Table of Cases Reported, each volume contains an Index of Cases Cited, which has been specially prepared for this edition and includes the cases cited in the notes.

They contain the reports of cases heard and determined by the Lord Chancellor and the Court of Appeals in Chancery. They are enriched with the carefully prepared and authoritative judgments of some of the most eminent judges who have ever presided in the Court of Chancery. The great fame of Lord Cottenham, Lord Truro, Lord Cranworth, Lord Chelmsford, Lord St. Leonards, Lord Campbell, and Lord Westbury, all of whom have, by turns, adorned and illustrated the Court of Chancery during the time covered by these Reports, is a sufficient guarantee of the merit and value of the Reports.

It cannot fail to be observed that the various notes, extending through twenty-three volumes of cases heard, determined and reported in the Court of Chancery between the years 1848 and 1865, and adapted to illustrate the topics discussed in these cases, must necessarily take an extensive range over the wide domain of equity jurisprudence. The principles settled in these cases underlie the whole body of equity law wherever and however administered — whether in courts exclusively of equity jurisdiction, or in courts having a mixed equity and common-law jurisdiction, or in courts administering the common law modified by the correcting and softening doctrines of equity. These cases, therefore, though determined by an English court, are by no means foreign to American jurisprudence; and the aim of the American editor has been to adapt them more completely to American use, and thereby to relieve the labor of the American student and practitioner, who, with reasonable facilities for examination, will find in them a wealth of wisdom and learning not easily attainable from any other source.

READ WHAT IS SAID OF THIS GREAT WORK.

From PROF. HAMMOND, of the St. Louis Law School.

"Accept my thanks for volumes of 'Field's Lawyers' Briefs,' just received by your courtesy, and which I have examined with interest. A personal acquaintance of many years standing with Mr. Field would of itself be sufficient to interest me in this work. But, in addition to this, I have so often been asked by students and others to recommend some compilation of this kind, which should furnish the young lawyer of limited means with a working library of small compass, that I am ready to welcome every attempt to supply such a book. * * *

"In the hasty survey which I have yet been able to give these volumes, I have found much to praise and very little to criticise. The matter seems to be well selected, and each distinct article to be framed with care and judgment."

From CARTER & BROOKS, Ellsworth, Kansas.

"We are much pleased with the plan, the print, and material. We think it is the most complete and succinct embodiment of the common law we have ever seen."

From HON. E. B. SMITH, St. Louis, Mo.

"I find your Briefs of great value in all branches of litigation. The subjects are discussed with a breadth and thoroughness which seems to me exhaustive, and leaves nothing more to be desired. Altogether, it will be found a labor-saving and exceptionally valuable work."

From HON. CLEMENT SMITH, Hastings, Mich.

"I am very much pleased with these books, and consider them invaluable in a law office."

From JOHN S. ANDREWS, Canandaigua, N. Y.

"Field's Lawyers' Briefs, which I purchased of your agent, is an excellent work. I have had occasion to consult its pages upon numerous points, and have found its statements clear, logical and exact. The subjects of Deeds and Covenants, Easements and Servitudes, Sales, Agency, Partnership, Wills, Bills and Notes and Evidence, as there treated, are worth the price of the work. Had I owned or had access to such a work ten years ago, it would have saved me much hard labor. A student or young attorney who purchases this work, an annotated code, and a copy of the rules, lays an excellent foundation for a law library."

Gluck and Becker on Receivers.

Receivers of Corporations, including National Banks, illustrated by abstracts of the facts of and excerpts from the opinions in leading Cases. By James Fraser Gluck and August Becker of the Buffalo, N. Y., bar. Second Edition. 1896. Law Sheep. $6 00 net.

The treatise is strictly limited to the presentation of law relating to a particular class, viz.: The Receivers of Corporations, including those of National Banks. By thus limiting the scope of the work we believe there will be found a fuller and more satisfactory exposition of the subject herein discussed than, up to this time, has been offered by any other publication in this country.

The plan upon which the work has been prepared differs, in some respects, from that of the ordinary text-books. * * * The purpose aimed at has been to present to the practicing lawyer the result which usually he attains only by his own labor. A lawyer is not, as a rule, seriously in doubt concerning the general principles of a subject. His chief anxiety is to discover precedents in which the general principles he urges have been clearly applied, and to find cases in which the facts involved so closely resemble those in the pending controversy that they relieve the mind of the court of any doubt, and justify, on its part, a prompt and favorable decision. The mere citation in a foot-note of the titles of a large number of cases throws no light on such a quest. Much time and serious labor must, thereafter, necessarily be expended in ascertaining exactly what the facts and legal conclusions are in such cases. If a lawyer, in the necessarily hurried examination which in a large and diversified practice he is able to devote to a single case, can have presented to him, in compact shape, the general principles relating to the subject under investigation, in almost the exact language of the best authorities, and in addition thereto—without a laborious search therefor on his part through many volumes—carefully prepared statements of the essential facts of the cases cited, it is believed that the effort herein made so to do—if well done—will meet with commendation.

Hardwicke's Art of Winning Cases, or Modern Advocacy.

In this work the author has given many valuable suggestions upon Preparation for Trial, and the Conduct of Cases in Court. He has not confined himself to a bare statement of the rules which should guide the advocate in the trial of cases, but he has shown how Erskine, Scarlett, Daniel Webster, Rufus Choate, Henry Clay and many other great English and American advocates have put these rules into practice.

The proper study of an advocate is advocacy.

It is unquestionably true that advocacy is a subject which has been too much neglected of late. No matter how profound a lawyer's knowledge of the law may be, if he is not skilled in the art of presenting his arguments upon the law and the facts to court and jury, as well as in the difficult art of examining witnesses, he can never do his client justice. Many mortifying failures are daily made in our courts, simply because the lawyers who have failed, are ignorant of the methods of preparing and trying cases, followed by the greatest and most successful advocates. These methods are clearly stated in this work.

Langbein's Law and Practice of the District Courts of the City of New York.

With the divisions and boundaries of the wards and judicial districts, the laws relating to city marshals, statutory amendments and notes of the latest decisions to October 1, 1894. By Langbein Brothers, Counselors-at-Law, New York City. Third Edition. 8vo., Law Sheep. 558 pp. With Forms. Nearly fourteen years have passed since the publication of the second edition of this work. Two years had not elapsed when "An act to consolidate into one act and to declare the special and local laws affecting public interests in the city of New York" was passed by the Legislature, July 1, 1882. (Laws 1882, chapter 410.) This act was the work of Commissioners George Bliss, Peter B. Olney and William C. Whitney, who compiled the Laws of 1857, chapter 344, organizing these courts and the various amendments to the same, into the said Consolidation Act, chapter 18, "The Courts and Judicial Proceedings, Title 6, The District Courts." In doing this the Commissioners made many radical and important changes, thereby greatly impairing the usefulness of the second edition on the law and practice of these courts.

Therefore a third edition became necessary, requiring an entire revision of the book, but as such a work is only used in this city and its sale is limited to that territory, the publishers have long hesitated to issue a new edition in consideration of the great expense involved. Indeed, the work has been mainly one of love and pride, instead of pecuniary profit, especially to the authors. A history of the creation and organization of District Courts is found in the first edition of this book published in the year 1872, and the student is referred to it upon any matter arising on that subject.

The Consolidation Act, so called by Laws 1882, chapter 410, section 2143, chapter 18, title 6, enacts the statutory law of "The District Courts." It embraces sections 1279 to 1440 inclusive, and is the structure of the present work, together with sections 1699 to 1711 inclusive, relating to marshals.

By chapter 29, entitled, "Effect of this act," section 2143, it is declared that certain sections of the said sections, therein set forth, "being intended to contain only the substance of certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure, or the amendments thereof, shall not be construed as making any new enactments or as repealing, modifying, amending or superseding any provision of said Code, or any amendments thereof, but shall be treated and considered as embraced in this act solely in order that it may contain all provisions of existing laws which are of special application in the city of New York. Sections 1371 to 1376 inclusive shall in like manner be treated and considered as making no new enactment, but as embraced in this act for the same reason."

These, and other sections, however, make numerous sections of the Code of Civil Procedure expressly applicable by numerical reference without giving the substance, and have been inserted in extenso in this book.

Thus the practice of the District Courts is, in the main, pursuant to the Code of Civil Procedure, but is rendered more difficult in applying for provisional remedies than the practice in courts of record, because of the exceptions in consequence of the summons being returnable before the court in six days, and of "short summons" being likewise so returnable when the court must act immediately.

The present work includes all the laws governing these courts now in force, being the unrepealed portions of Laws 1857, chapter 344, commonly known as the "District Court Act," Laws 1882, chapter 410, commonly called the "Consolidation Act," sections 2 to 25, inclusive, sections 1279 to 1440, inclusive, 1699 to 1711, inclusive, and section 2143, and the Code of Civil Procedure, chapter 20, title 4, articles first and second, sections 3207 to 3222, inclusive. All the amendments to the laws have been embodied down to, and including thirty days after the adjournment of the Legislature of the year 1894, together with the latest decisions of the courts to October 1, 1894. $5 00 net.

Lansing's Forms of Civil Procedure.

Adapted to Practice and Pleading under the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of New York, and under the Codes of other States having similar Codes, with full Notes and References to Authorities. By William Lansing. This book, as its title imports, is intended to give the Practitioner a complete and accurate collection of forms of practice and pleading under the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of New York, and under the Code of other States having similar Codes, with full Notes and References to recent authorities. So many and great have been the changes introduced into the practice by the Code of Civil Procedure, that it is believed that a work of this nature has become not only useful but almost indispensable to the legal profession. Many forms are added outside of the Code of Civil Procedure, such as are required in practice. The arrangement is that of the Code of Civil Procedure, each section or rule being referred to above the form, and an index will be but little required in using them. The work is printed in large, clear type, on the best quality of paper, and bound in best law sheep. 3 Vols. 1896. 8vo., Law Sheep. $13 50 net.

The authors of this edition have bestowed infinite pains in collecting and arranging the learning applicable to Trusts and Trustees. This edition has many American authorities cited in the foot notes (and a supplementary chapter of nearly 100 pages on Trusts for Accumulation, exclusively American).

Of this treatise Mr. Perry, in his work on Trusts, says: "The most complete work upon the Law of Trusts is the Edition of Mr. Lewin on Trusts." The work needs no recommendation and the American notes will speak for themselves.

Lindley on Partnership.

A Treatise on the Law of Partnership. From the Fifth English Edition, by the Right Honorable Sir Nathaniel Lindley Kent, one of the Lord Justices of Her Majesty's Court of Appeal; assisted by William C. Gull, M. A., and Walter B. Lindley, M. A., Barrister-at-Law, with American notes by

The whole of the present treatise has been carefully revised throughout; whatever is obsolete has been omitted; or if retained as being still useful, has been printed in small type. Many portions have been rewritten and adapted to the most recent decisions.

Special mention may, however, be made of pages 2, 10, showing that the law under the Statutes has been adopted in many States; also, under Statute 13 Elizabeth, Chapter 5, to page 8, where it is declaratory of Common Law; page 21, purchase in name of a wife, child, or third person; 33, voluntary settlement of property if removed from creditors; 45, motive of settler alone material; 50, Law as to indebtedness; 50, 53, 54, Test of voluntary settlement; 53, As to voluntary settlements by traders; subsequent insolvency, if unforeseen, will not avoid deed; 60, Valuation of settler's assets and liabilities at the time of settlement; 69, Voluntary conveyance void against creditors, good otherwise; 77, In favor of a wife or children, not therefore void against subsequent creditors; 99, Conveyance for value to defeat execution good; 91, n., Marriage settlement only avoided if husband and wife commit fraud; 111, Power of revocation a strong mark of fraud; 113, 116, On possession of personal chattels and real property; 116, n., Possession of real estate after a sale not a presumption of fraud; 120, On doctrine of Edwards v. Harben; 163, Creditors and others who are; 168, Who is owner of debt can enforce it; 520, n., 521, n., Subsequent creditors can impeach settlement, when; 525, n., Corporation, whether a creditor; 388, Parol ante-nuptial agreement not to set up post-nuptial settlement against creditors. Under Statute 27 Elizabeth, chapter 4, page 3, Declaration of Common Law; 5, 76, Voluntary conveyance upheld against purchaser without notice in United States; 5, 196, Voluntary conveyance upheld against purchaser with notice; 229, Judgment creditor not a purchaser; 241, Purchaser from other than voluntary settler not a purchaser; 326, Purchaser from either fraudulent grantor or grantee when protected; 328, 329, Rights of first purchaser, whether from grantor or grantee, prevail; 329, As between volunteers priority of date confers title; 392, Contract may be enforced by a stranger, both to it and to the consideration, when; 390, n., Voluntary conveyance not enforced; 401, Enforced against settler's estate; 514, Permanent improvements allowed for when relief given against person in possession; 325, n., Under Statutes of Elizabeth conveyance voidable only.

The above will fairly show the extent of the work of an American authority.

The late Mr. Justice Miller, at his death, left a carefully prepared manuscript of ten lectures upon the Constitution of the United States, which had been read by him before the students of the Law School of the National University in the City of Washington, during the winter of 1889 and early spring of 1890. The lectures were accompanied by a series of notes prepared under his direction. This material, and two other papers by him on cognate subjects — the first an address before the Alumni of the Law Department of the University of Michigan on the 29th day of June, 1887, entitled "The Constitution and Supreme Court of the United States," the other "An oration at the one hundredth anniversary of the framing and promulgation of the Constitution in Independence Square, Philadelphia, on the 17th day of September." Hon. J. C. Bancroft Davis has printed Judge Miller's lectures as they came to him, adding a short note to each of these lectures, which in each case will explain itself. He has supplemented a chapter containing references to minor provisions of the Constitution, not discussed in the lectures, and an appendix, containing (1) a collated copy of the Constitution with full references to the cases in which it has been construed or discussed; (2) a collated copy of the Articles of Confederation; (3) copies of the Randolph draft for a Constitution and of the Pinkney draft for the same which were submitted to the Convention May 29, 1787, both of which proved to be of substantial use in the discussions which followed in the convention.

These Lectures have never been published before. They will be of great interest to every student of the Constitution.

The leading American decisions have also been referred to, and whenever the American law differs from the English the distinction has been pointed out and explained. As instancing the above, we would refer to pp. 252-274. The chapter on Injunctions, in which the American authorities will be found cited on pp. 260, 266, 267, 273. This is a very important chapter. Atwill v. MacIntose on Confidential Communications, p. 157; Newbold v. Bradstreet & Son, p. 161; Krebs v. Oliver; Gassett v. Gilbert; *Count Joannes v. Being a Condensed Index Digest of the Supreme Court Reports under Cases instead of Subjects.

Any one remembering the name of a decision of the Supreme Court on a given point, can find the whole law on such point by turning to the case, and following up the decisions which are given under it. We would call attention to the following letters to the Author, from Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States.

FROM JUSTICE BRADLEY.

"I value it very highly, and use it constantly. It was a happy thought to arrange the references in this way, and it is wonderful how much labor it saves."

W. HALLETT PHILLIPS, Esq.

Dear Sir: — I am glad to see that you have published a second edition of the Manual of Cases decided in the Supreme Court of the United States, bringing the work down to October term, 1885. Very constant use of your first edition has convinced me of its value to the courts and to the bar, saving as it does much time and labor in tracing rulings of the court through the one hundred and thirteen volumes of Reports.

Very truly yours,

JOHN DAVIS.

Washington, D. C., July 5, 1863.

W. HALLETT PHILLIPS.

Dear Sir:— My examination of your Manual of Decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, confirms the opinion I have often expressed, that it ought to be in the hands of every lawyer. It is always important that the practitioner should know whether a particular decision of that Court upon which he relies has been affirmed, overruled, modified, or distinguished, in subsequent cases in the same tribunal. Your book enables him, with very little trouble, to trace the history of that decision in the published reports, and thus ascertain what is the state of the law as declared by the Court, upon the question determined in the original case. In the discharge of my judicial duties, I have found it to be invaluable. I would dispense with any single book in my Law Library sooner than with your Manual.

The Bench and Bar of the country are greatly indebted to you, as well for making it, as for the care with which your work has been done.

Yours truly,

JOHN M. HARLAN.

FROM JUSTICE BLATCHFORD.

"It is a work of great value to the judge and the lawyer; I consult it constantly. It saves much labor and makes it easy to collect the succession of cases on a given point."

Phillips' Practice United States Supreme Court.

The Statutory Jurisdiction and Practice of the Supreme Court of the United States, together with Forms of Process and Rules established for the Supreme Court, the Court of Claims, the Courts of Equity, and the Courts of Admiralty. By P. Phillips. Fifth Edition. 1887. 1 Vol. 8vo., Law Sheep. $5 00 net.

The Fourth Edition of this standard work was published in 1878. Since that date twenty-two volumes of Supreme Court Reports have appeared. The numerous cases on questions of jurisdiction and practice therein contained, as well as the changes in the Rules and Statutes, have made a new edition necessary. The work has been thoroughly revised, and has been brought down to include the cases reported in 118 U. S. (October Term, 1886.)

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS OF JUSTICES SUPREME COURT, U. S.

CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE.

"With the case brought down to date, as you have done, there is nothing to be had equal to this compact and well arranged volume for those who wish to become familiar with the practice of the Supreme Court."

MR. JUSTICE FIELD.

"In its original form the work met with great success, and was regarded by all the judges as the most useful treatise in existence on the jurisdiction and practice of the Supreme Court. In its enlarged and revised form it is greatly improved, and will be of great service to all attorneys and counselors who have business in the Supreme Court of the United States."

MR. JUSTICE MATTHEWS.

"The original work was well conceived and as well executed in several editions published during the life-time of the distinguished author, and proved to be of great usefulness to both bar and bench. By the thorough revision which you have made in the present edition, with the alterations and additions required by numerous new decisions and revised rules, you have thoroughly restored the work in its former place of usefulness."

JUSTICE MILLER.

"I know of no work so useful to all the lawyers who practice or who have business in the Supreme Court, as well as to the justices of that court."

Pollock on Contracts.

A Treatise on the General Principles concerning the Validity of Agreements in the Law of England and America. Fourth Edition. By Frederick Pollock, Barrister-at-Law. With notes and American cases by Franklin S. Dickson, LL. B. London, 1885. American, 1888. 747 pp. Law Sheep.

$4 00 net.

A work bearing Mr. Pollock's name needs no recommendation. There have been four editions published in ten years. As its title states, the principles found therein apply in the law of England and America alike. The American notes are concise and the cases brought down to date. Special attention is called to the chapters on Mistake, Fraud and Deceit, and Duress and Undue Influence, being chapters 8, 9, 10 and 11. Chapter 10 treats on the Right of Rescission on these grounds, and is most important.

Pollock on Torts.

A Treatise on the Principles of Obligations arising from Civil Wrongs in the Common Law. By Frederick Pollock. London, 1886. American, 1887. 436 pp., Law Sheep.

$3 00 net.

This work selects rather than collects authorities, yet all the leading cases will be found most ably dealt with. A work bearing Mr. Pollock's name requires no recommendation.

In his preface to the work the author says he has endeavored to turn to practical account the lessons of what he saw at Harvard and its Law School, and the work is the outcome thereof.

He has constant reference to Mr. Cooley's Treatise on the Law of Torts, and the American authorities. A better example of the excellency of the work cannot perhaps be found than in Section 8 of the Fourth Chapter of the work, where he states the American Law and Cases on the question of Inevitable Accident, pp. 89-99. And again on the question of the Master's Liability for the faults of Fellow Servants, pp. 64-70, Sunday Travelling, 152; the Rights of the Receiver of a Telegram, 456; Compensation for Damage by Death, p. 61, etc.

Pomeroy's Specific Performance of Contracts.

A Treatise on the Specific Performance of Contracts, as it is enforced by Courts of Equitable Jurisdiction in the United States of America. By John Norton Pomeroy, LL. Revised Statutes of the State of New York. Ninth Edition.

Edited by Prof. Charles A. Collin, a Commissioner of Statutory Revision from 1889 to 1895. Containing the Constitution, Revised Statutes, Revised General Laws and other General Statutes of the State of New York, as amended and in force on January 1, 1897.

Two New Features of this Work will render it Superior to any other compilation of the Statutes :

1 The Annotations, referring, in each case, to all other provisions bearing on the same topic, whether in the Constitution, Codes, other Statutes or Court Rules, so that the body of the work is largely Self-Indexing.

2. The Index, which is more properly a Digest of all the written law of the State, including the Constitution, Codes, General Laws, Revised Statutes, all other general Statutes and Court Rules.

The four volumes of the Ninth Edition and the supplemental volume will make the work complete to the close of the session of 1896 5 vols.

Revised Statutes of the State of New York. Supplement.

Edited by Charles A. Collin, a Commissioner of Statutory Revision from 1889 to 1895.

All the General Statutes of 1896, including the Code Amendments, all carefully indexed. This volume is so arranged as to make easy reference to all amendments and repeals of the Statutes in the preceding volumes, and brings the entire work complete up to date.

The index is the most complete and elaborate ever appended to any edition of the statutes of this State. It covers, under a single arrangement of topics, the Civil, Criminal and Penal Codes, the Revised Statutes, all other General Statutes, and the Court Rules. To a large extent, the index gives the substance of the statute, making it practically a digest of the entire written law of the State. The index refers to the Codes by sections, and may therefore be used with any edition of any code. For this reason it has seemed advisable not to encumber the body of the work with the text of the codes which every lawyer already has in separate editions.

The annotations and cross references are not merely a combination of nouns and figures, but give the gist of the decision or statute referred to, briefly and to the point, without such overloading as to interfere with continuous reading of the statutes themselves.

The statutes are so arranged that each statute is complete in itself, with its title in place, so that the entire statute may, in each case, be read continuously from beginning to end. 1

Shepard's Wisconsin Digest.

A New Digest of Wisconsin Reports. By Charles E. Shepard and Thomas R. Shepard, of the Milwaukee Bar. It comprises all the decisions announced prior to September 25, 1883, including those in 57 Wisconsin. It presents the whole case law of Wisconsin, in the First Volume of 946 pages, under one alphabetical arrangement. It presents in the Second Volume of 586 pages a table of all Wisconsin Cases, with all their citations, also arranged in one index to the Digest; the reversed titles of all the cases and a table of all foreign cases American and English, cited by the Supreme Court of Wisconsin. It states the facts in full. It cites the statutes involved in the decisions. It notes statutory changes of the Case Law, and indicates what law is obsolete. This book is written in a semi-humorous vein, and the style adopted is likely to arrest attention, aid the memory, and make the study of Law more attractive. The author's object is to elucidate the 150 cases of most general importance in the common law. The book deserves the highest praise, and the notes are by no means the least meritorious part of the work.

Shirley's Leading Cases in the Common Law contains all of the leading cases in Smith's Leading Cases (except a few obsolete ones). Shirley has 150 Cases, while Smith has but 62.

It is forty years since any fresh work has appeared on this subject. The extent of the subject may be greatly gauged by the fact that the index of cases comprises nearly 2,000 reported decisions. The arrangement is most orderly and convenient. The work is divided into three divisions and under each is presented:—1. A general statement of the nature, origin and scope of the particular remedy discussed. 2. An exhaustive review of the cases in which it has been applied; and 3. An exposition of all the procedure necessary to put it in force and carry it through all its stages.

Silvernail's New York Reports.

Containing decisions of New York Court of Appeals, from 1886 to 1891, not reported in full in the official reports of Court of Appeals cases, with syllabi stating fully, yet concisely, the principles enunciated in each decision; also index and tables of cases reported and cited in opinions and notes.

They also contain exhaustive notes on some of the important legal points decided in the reported cases, wherein the cases bearing upon the questions are collated, compared, distinguished and criticised, the affirmed, overruled and reversed cases fully shown, and the present position of the State Courts thereon defined.

These notes will be found exceptionally helpful to the practitioner, containing, as they do, the elements and bases of professional briefs and points upon the questions considered, by W. H. Silvernail. Vols. 1, 2, 3, 4. Per Vol., $2 50 net.

A Treatise on the Law of Master and Servant, including therein Masters and Workmen in every description of trade and occupation. By Charles Manley Smith. London, 1885; American, 1887. 802 pp. Law Sheep. $4 00 net.

This work treats an important subject, and treats it in a most complete and satisfactory manner.

American cases and authorities are cited throughout the work. For example, on p. 12 will be found the American Law and cases on the subject of an Infant's Right to sue for Wages. Again on p. 24, on the question of Liability of a Railway Company for the Torts of its Agents, will be found the American cases as to Libel. Special attention may also be called to pp. 62-63 upon the distinction between servants receiving share of net profits and gross earnings, or sum calculated with reference to profits, where the author states the American authorities and cites American cases in support of his text. See also pp. 152, 154, 155, on The Action for Seduction. Special notice should be taken of pp. 209, 210, et seq., as to the Master's duty to indemnify his servant. But perhaps the best and most interesting chapter in the book is the VII, which treats of the Character, Defamation, Privileged Communications, etc., and is as well and clearly treated as in any work known of devoted to that single subject alone. See especially pp. 390-391, 403-404.

This work well deserves the success it has attained. Its value has been increased by well-selected references to American decisions, as well as to the views of other text-writers, American and English, on the subject.

In illustration of the above we would refer to pp. 44-51, where the American authorities on the subject there treated upon will be found stated. Again in the chapter on Contributory Negligence, pp. 152-164, and especially on the doctrine of contributory negligence as applied to children and those having the care of them, at p. 168. Attention might be also called to the chapter on Lord Campbell's Act, p. 169, where the American cases upon the law as to the right of the representatives to recover damages in case of death through negligence will be found.

A Treatise on the Law of Evidence, as administered in England and Ireland, with illustrations from American and other foreign laws. By Judge Pitt Taylor. From the Eighth Edition. 4 Vols. in 2 Vols. 1592 pp. Law Sheep. $10 00 net.

In no sense can this work be said to be a mere index to works of authority, a criticism which is often and truly made of Text-Books; but it is a clear, full and exact statement of the Law of Evidence by an accomplished legal writer. Indeed, it has been well said, it is a work that conveys most technical instruction in a style which has all the charm of a romance.

The work, as the author tells us in his preface, is founded on Greenleaf on Evidence, but like every other good work it has advanced far ahead, and is now the highest authority upon the law of evidence.

That special attention has been paid to the laws of these States wherever occasion requires, reference may be made to p. 1225 upon the difference upon the rule as to cross-examination in these States and in England. Again to page 1554, as the effect of alteration of an instrument by a stranger. To pp. 1208-1209, as to evidence of opinion on subjects of sanity; p. 1003 as to warranty on sale of chattels; p. 620, as to admissibility of entries by tradesmen in their own shop books; p. 872, as to necessity for consideration appearing in writing signed under Statute of Frauds; p. 838, as to necessity for contracts of corporation being evidence by deeds; pp. 19-20, as to what facts they admit without proof.

Special attention should be given to the New York Civil Code, which will be found mentioned on pages 112, 218-221, 787, 1162, 1198, 1278, 1218, 1229, 1242, 1584. And the Criminal Code on p. 812.

If further evidence is wanted, reference can be made to the Table of Abbreviations, where the American authorities cited will be found collected. We also refer you to the Index, the most complete ever made.

Judge Wm. F. Cooper, of Tennessee, whose reputation as an able, accurate and accomplished lawyer extends far beyond the limit of his own State, has doubled the value of the original reports by his numerous notes. His editorial labor has included the providing of head-notes where there were none in the original (as in all three volumes of Haywood). The edition is a complete verbatim reprint of the original Reports, without condensation or abridgment whatever, except in the recasting of inaccurate head-notes; the annotation of cases by references to other decisions limiting or qualifying the principles decided; and the careful revision and verification of all citations, indexes and tables of cases. We have put the price of the full set, the original 41 volumes complete in 37, down to $125.00 net, a figure which puts these valuable reports within the reach of every member of the profession.

This series has been projected with a view to meet all the objections which are continually urged against the "Law Reports" and the various other series of Reports of English Cases. The most serious of these objections are imperfect editing, inaccuracy, incompleteness and cost.

The first of these is overcome by the selection of two of the best English law writers for Editors. Sir F. Pollock is distinguished all the world over, as a most profound and elegant writer — one who would neither permit inaccuracy of matter, nor what is nearly as bad a slipshod or dubious style. Mr. Mews has for years been connected with the Digesting of the English Reports. As Editor of the last Common Law Digest and of the Annual Digest, his experience has been in excess of any other legal writer, so that his revision of the Cases, as they come from the Reporters, and more especially the head-notes, will render inaccuracy impossible.

Another great objection to existing series is that they are all incomplete, and none can claim to contain every reported Case of the year. It is computed that thirty per cent. of the reported cases are missing from each of the series—so that lawyers are constantly obliged, either to go to the libraries for reference to some other series that is not in their offices, to borrow the volume from friends, or take in all the four at an expense of about $90.00 per annum.

This new series will contain every case to be found in the Law Reports, Law Journal, Law Times, or Weekly Reporter, and the price will be about half the cost of the Law Reports bound in half-calf.

It should be stated that there is no authorized series of English Reports; but it is hoped that with the support of judges and profession, this series will become as nearly perfect as possible.

The great convenience of receiving advance parts for temporary use without being under the necessity of preserving them for binding, will, it is believed, be greatly appreciated by subscribers.

From the 1st February, 1895, Advanced Monthly Parts not intended for binding will be furnished to annual subscribers. Postage prepaid.

Thomas on Negligence.

Rules, Decisions, Opinions. The most useful work on the subject published. 1 Vol. $7 50.

Throop's Massachusetts Digest.

A Digest of the Decisions of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, from 1804 to 1886, as reported in the series beginning with Volume 1 and ending with Volume 151 of the Massachusetts Reports, with a table of contents and a table of the Cases Digested. By Montgomery H. Throop. 3 Vols. 1891. Royal 8vo., Law Sheep. $12 00 net

This work, now through the press, aims to pursue a via media between excessive diffuseness and excessive condensation. It gives the points decided in each case with sufficient fullness to present them clearly, and enable the practitioner to determine at once the application and pertinency of the case to the question which he is examining, without wading through the prolix statements of facts and vague enunciations of the grounds of the decision, which in many instances characterize the head-notes in the reports. Cases which have been rendered obsolete by subsequent legislation are stated in outline merely. Principles and general rules, declared in particular cases, are given fully, and the different cases upon the same general questions are grouped together under the principles common to all, whenever that course was practicable. By these and other modes of condensation, this work, without following the plan of an “Index Digest,” gives the entire result of a labored condensation of the decisions in 1539 pages of text. The text of the full Massachusetts Digest, now in use, with a supplement, including Volumes 128 to 134, contains 8,111 pages, which the seven succeeding volumes, if digested upon the same plan, would swell to about 4,000.

The Table of Cases is indexed to the names of the plaintiff and of the defendant in each case, with a reference to each page of the Digest where the case is given.

Throop's Massachusetts Digest. Supplement.

This volume is a Digest of the Opinions of the Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, contained in Volumes 142 to 151, inclusive, and is designed as a Supple-

Tiedeman on the Law of Municipal Corporations.

A Treatise on the Law of Municipal Corporations in the United States, by Christopher G. Tiedeman, author of "Real Property," "Legislation of Police Power," etc., and Professor of Law, in the University of the City of New York. The present volume, like the other works of the author, is designed to present within the confines of one volume a succinct and clear statement of the Law of Municipal Corporations, by an inclusion of every thing material, and exclusion of every thing immaterial, to the clear comprehension of the general principles and rules of law, bearing upon or involved in the subject.

Table of Contents.—Chap. I, Corporations defined, classified and distinguished. Chap. II, Legislative Control over Municipal Corporations, how far limited. Chap. III, The Incorporation of Municipalities. Chap. IV, Dissolution of Municipal Corporations. Chap. V, Corporate Name, Seal and Boundaries. Chap. VI, Municipal Elections and Officers. Chap. VII, Municipal Councils, Meetings, Records and Courts. Chap. VIII, Charter Powers, their Nature, Construction and Limitations. Chap. IX, Ordinances. Chap. X, Municipal Contracts. Chap. XI, Municipal Securities. Chap. XII, Right of Municipal Corporations to own and control Property. Chap. XIII, Dedication of Property to Public Use. Chap. XIV, Eminent Domain. Chap. XV, Municipal Taxation and Local Assessments. Chap. XVI, Streets, Bridges and Turnpikes. Chap. XVII, Liability of Municipal Corporations for Torts. Chap. XVIII, Mandamus and Quo Warranto. Chap. XIX, Remedies against Municipal Corporations in General. 1 Vol. 1026 pages, Law Sheep.

The publishers ask attention to the following letters from the Chief Justice and the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States.

LETTERS FROM THE JUDGES SUPREME COURT, U. S.

CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE

"The original volumes are now nearly out of print, and your republication, without abbreviations, is just what was needed. The mechanical part of the work is excellent, and the reputation of your editors is a sufficient guarantee of the value of their annotations."

MR. JUSTICE FIELD.

"They form the finest set of U. S. Reports that have been published. I have not as yet had time to examine with much care the notes of Messrs. Brightly and Rapalje; so far as I have looked at them, they seem to be prepared with good judgment. I have no doubt that your edition will be generally taken by the profession, and I hope it will give you a handsome remuneration."

MR. JUSTICE MILLER.

"The slight examination I have been able to give shows the paper, the typography and the binding to be first-class. The notes of Mr. Brightly only make one desire that they were more extensive, and those of Mr. Rapalje make us hope his will be as full as they promise."

MR. JUSTICE BRADLEY.

"The annotations, of course, add greatly to the value of the edition, saving a great amount of time in investigation, and obviating mistakes and oversight. The possession of such an edition ten years ago would have saved me many a weary search for the series of cases on particular subjects. The edition is a great benefit to the bar, for its beauty, its apparatus of notes and its cheapness. I hope you will be amply compensated for its issue."

MR. JUSTICE WOOD.

"The volumes are handsomely executed, and the notes by the editors are most valuable and useful."

MR. JUSTICE MATTHEWS.

"As some of the older volumes of the series are out of print, a new edition, without abbreviation or condensation, as yours is, became quite a necessity to the profession. I have had occasion to refer to some of the annotations, and find them convenient and useful."

MR. JUSTICE BLATCHFORD.

"This edition, without abbreviation or condensation, will, with notes, be of value."

White and Tudor's Leading Cases in Equity.

A Selection of Leading Cases in Equity, with Notes. By Frederick Thomas White and Owen Davis Tudor, Esqrs., Barristers-at-Law. Together with Notes and American Cases by Franklin S. Dickson, LL. B. From the Sixth Edition. London, 1886; American, 1889. 4 Vols. 2614 pp. Law Sheep. $14 00 net.

This edition is seventeen years later than the Fourth Edition, and twelve years later than the last American Edition, which was reprinted from the Fourth Edition, and is now selling for $26.00.

The importance of such works as White and Tudor's Leading Cases in Equity is shown by the fact, that the Courts of the United States and England hold, that wherever there is a conflict between the principles of Equity and Common Law, the rules of Equity shall prevail.

The American notes are concise, will be found embodied in their proper places in the Text, and are distinguished by being placed between brackets, thus [].

Colonial.— Duke of Yorke's Book of Laws. Introduced September 22, 1676.

These laws were also in force in Pennsylvania from 1676 to 1682. They are preserved in manuscript, among the records of the town clerk of Hempstead, on Long Island, but are in a mutilated condition. Fortunately, however, a certified copy of this record was secured by the New York Historical Society and published in its record in 1809.

The State of Pennsylvania has recently reprinted it, with the early laws of that Commonwealth. A copy of the latter publication can be obtained from the Secretary of State of the Commonwealth on remitting, at Harrisburg, $1 therefor.

The Laws and Acts of the General Assembly for their Majesty's Province of New York, as they were enacted in divers sessions, the first of which began April the 9th, Annoq. Domini 1691, at New York. Printed and sold by William Bradford, Printer, to their Majesty's King William and Queen Mary, 1694. Also laws passed from 1694 to 1708, though all enacted during that period are not included. This was the first book published in the Colony of New York. But five copies are known to be in existence. The most perfect was recently purchased, at the Brinley sale, by the State of New York for $1,600, and is now in the State Library. The State has another copy, not so complete, in the Secretary of State's office. The Lenox and the New York Historical Societies each have a copy not so perfect. The second best copy known is owned by A. J. Vanderpoel, Esq., of New York.

* Lansing's Chancery Reports contain 18 pages, "reported by John Lansing, Jr." In a preface he says they are cases to which the "reporter" was a party. The title page is "Reports of Cases in Chancery and the Supreme Court in the State of New York in 1824 and 1826. Printed by Packard and Van Benthuysen, Albany, 1826." It contains 4 cases as follows: 1. Lansing v. Albany Insurance Company, Chancery, March 26, 1824. Heard by Savage, Chief Justice, because the Chancellor was a stockholder. Reported Hopkins's Chy. 102. 2. Egberts v. Lansing, Chancery, Sept. 7, 1824, Sanford, Chancellor. 3. Globe Insurance Company v. Lansing, 5 Cowen, 380. 4. Lansing v. Goellet, August, 1826. Chancery, Jones, Chancellor. We know of but a single copy in existence — in the State Library of New York.

† Short notes of decisions by the chancellor, most of them subsequently reported in the regular reports.

‡ A new edition of this report was published in 1869, with Notes by N. C. Moak, Esq.

§ Most of the cases in Selden's Notes, and in the Transcript Appeals were published in the regular reports. The originals of Selden's Notes were pagged by terms. A new edition, pagged continuously, has since been published.

* Smith, the former reporter, has recently issued vol. 32 of his reports and has labelled or "backed" it 81½ Penn. State, a very inconvenient method of citation. It would have been much better to have called it 81 Penn. State, supplement, and we have recommended that style of citation of the volume in analogy to supplemental volumes of Georgia, Texas, etc., a method already approved

TRIALS.

Under the excellent system of nisi prius reporting, which until recently prevailed in England, and which to a certain extent still prevails in Cox's Criminal Cases, most of the important adjudications of legal points in criminal cases there have found their way into the books, and the profession of that country, and of this, have reaped the advantages therefrom.

The number of such reports in this country could almost be numbered upon the fingers. Many of the important criminal trials have been separately, and more elaborately, reported in pamphlets than is usual in England. After being read they are thrown aside and sooner or later find their way into the waste basket so that after a few years they become scarce and can be obtained only in limited numbers at considerable expense and frequently, owing to the promptness with which trials are moved, too late to be of any use.

Crime, as has been so often said, repeats itself. The trials of Sickles, of Cole, and of McFarland, and those of Mary Harris, of Fanny Hyde, of Black, and of Mrs. Fair are notable instances of this aphorism. The lawyer called upon to prosecute, or to defend, a case, derives great assistance from the labors of eminent counsel who preceded him in similar cases.

The questions involved in a few of the most prominent trials are well known; but the mere statement that a pamphlet contains the trial of John Doe affords the mass of counsel no information as to whether it may be of value to them in the case in hand. Every such trial ought to have an index to enable the reader readily to find what may be important to him; but unfortunately most of them have none whatever, and to determine this they must, if the trial be accessible, wade through a mass of useless matter to the pith of the case, if any. There is room for an elaborate, an excellent, and a useful work upon the subject of such trials, and we hope some painstaking lawyer will give the profession the benefit of his labors in this direction. It would certainly be out of place in a work like the present. Meanwhile, however, in order to afford some little assistance to those who may wish to avail themselves of the advantages of such trials and brochures, we give below the name of the most important, the crime charged, the place of trial, name of the publisher so that it can be readily obtained, if still in print, and in some cases, very briefly, the clue to the case of the prosecution and to the defense.

While it is necessarily very imperfect, and is not all which is desired, it is as full as would be justified here.

Abortion.—Report upon criminal abortion by the committee appointed by the Medico-Legal Society of New York; composed of the most eminent medical and legal gentlemen connected with that society.

The New York Statute in relation to abortion (Laws 1872, vol. 1, page 509, chap. 181), was passed in consequence of, and was based upon this report.

Achilli, Giacinto, vs. Newman, John Henry, London, 1852. Libel against a catholic priest by the plaintiff, formerly an Italian monk of the Dominican order and a priest. He had subsequently embraced the protestant faith, been imprisoned in the prisons of the Inquisitions at Rome, and escaped to England. The defendant had undertaken to do, what he considered to be a duty to the faith he had embraced, destroy the character of the Dr. Achilli.

Acton on Prostitution. — Prostitution considered in its moral, social and sanitary aspects. By William Acton. Second edition, 1870. John Churchill & Sons, publishers, London.

Addison, Alexander, Judge, Common Pleas, 1803. Impeachment before Pennsylvania Senate. By Thomas Lloyd. George Helmboldt, publisher, Lancaster, Pa., 1803.

Adultery Trials.—Select trials for divorce at Doctors's Commons. If perfect, illustrated by steel prints of a rather broad character. 1780. 7 volumes. S. Bladon, publisher, London.

Albany riots.—Albany, N. Y., 1808. Report of the trials of Elisha Jenkins against Solomon Van Rensselaer and three other cases of assault and battery growing out of the political riot just previous to the election of 1807, between the Van Rensselaer and the opposition faction. Six of the most eminent counsel of the State were engaged in the trial. A very interesting trial, showing that politics ran as high then as now. Contains the arguments of John Woodworth, Ebenezer Foote, Thomas R. Gold, Elisha Williams and Abraham Van Vechten in full. Croswell & Feary, printers, Albany, N. Y.

Alley, Leavitt, Boston, 1872. Murder. Body of deceased (Abijah Ellis) found in barrels in the Charles River horribly mutilated. An excellent trial, with a good index. Little, Brown & Co., publishers, Boston.

Alton trials.—Trial of Winthrop S. Gilman and many others for riot, at Alton, Illinois, the night of November 7, 1837, while engaged in defending a printing press from an attack made on it by an armed mob. Also of several of the mob for riot in destroying the press. By William S. Lincoln. John F. Trow, New York, publisher.

American Criminal Calendar, or an awful warning to the youth of America. An account of the most notorious malefactors of America. By Henry St. Clair, 1831. Frederick S. Hill, Boston, publisher.

Andrews, Samuel M., Plymouth, Mass., 1868. Murder. Defense that deceased was killed in self defense while attempting to perpetrate an unnatural crime upon the prisoner. An excellent trial. Hurd & Houghton, publishers, Boston.

Anthony, Susan B., Rochester, N. Y., 1873. For illegal voting. Contains many authorities and elaborate arguments by eminent counsel. Daily Democrat & Chronicle, publishers, Rochester, N. Y. Reported 11 Blatchford, 200; 2 Green's Criminal Cases, 208, and note page 215; see 12 English Reports, 235, Moak's notes.

Armstrong, General. Case of the armed brig of war. 1857. Involving questions of International Law before U. S. Court of Claims. Reported by Sam. C. Reid, Jr. Banks, Gould & Co., publishers, N. Y.

Arnoux, William H. Argument in the Surrogate's Court in the Rollwagen Will Case for the proponent, 1874. An excellent argument quoting many authorities. Lange, Little & Co., New York, publishers. Case reported 48 How. Prac. 103; id. 289; 3 Hun, 121; 63 New York Reports, 504.

Arsenical poisoning. Cases of and methods of detection. Resumé of a considerable number of such cases including that of the People v. McCraney (6 Parker's Criminal Reports, 49; S. C., on motion to change venue 21 Howard's Practice Reports, 149) for arsenical poisoning by injection into rectum, and of same prisoner for poisoning Allen Baker, a brother-in-law, 11 years before. Showing how the remains of the latter were identified and how arsenic was detected after so long a time. An excellent article by Charles H. Porter, M. D.

Transactions, N. Y. State Medical Society, 1862, pages 125-180. It was also published in a pamphlet for Dr. Porter's use.

Assassins of Lincoln. See Lincoln.

Astor Place Riot, New York, 1849. Terrific and fatal riot at the Astor Place Theater, growing out of the quarrels between Forrest and Macready. Quelled by the military, resulting in the death of a large number of persons. H. M. Ranney, printer, New York.

Avery, Rev. Ephraim K. For murder of Sarah Maria Cornell, as was alleged, to avoid publicity of approaching birth of a child. Newport, R. I., 1832. This is a very celebrated trial. When complete it consists of: 1. The trial at large. 2. Fac similes of Avery's letters to the girl. 3. Harnden's narration of prisoner's apprehension, with proceedings of inhabitants of Fall River. 4. Strictures on the case by "Aristides." 5. Vindication of the result. 6. Remarkable instances of circumstantial evidence. 7. Fall River; an authentic narrative. Published by various parties. See Mysteries of Crime, page 199.

Baltimore conspiracy against interest of, and to defraud the Bank of the United States by its officers, 1823. Thomas Murphy, Baltimore, Md., publisher.

Barnard, Judge George G., charges against, containing the evidence before the Assembly Committee, 1872. Weed, Parsons & Co., Albany, N. Y., publishers.

Barnard, Judge George G. Impeachment trial before Senate of New York, 1872. 3 vols. Weed, Parsons & Co., Albany, N. Y., publishers.

Beale, Dr. Stephen T., Philadelphia, 1854. The defendant, a dentist, was tried and convicted of an alleged rape upon a patient while under the influence of ether. Much controversy arose as to whether the defendant was not innocent and the lady the victim of a delusion from the ether administered. T. K. Collins, Jr., printer, Philadelphia.

Beardsley, Alfred, against Mary Elizabeth Beardsley, Brooklyn, N. Y., 1860. A celebrated divorce case. Robert M. De Witt, pub., New York.

Beecher investigation. Testimony and exhibits containing many things not in the trial, 1874. J. H. Paxon, New York, publisher.

Beecher, Henry Ward. For crim. con., 1875. The only complete edition; but printed from newspaper type, without much correction, and somewhat imperfect. 3 vols. McDivitt, Campbell & Co., publishers, New York. Reported on side issue, 59 N. Y. Reports, 176. See 1 Southern Law Rev. (N. S.), 288.

Beecher, Henry Ward. Crim. con. Official, by Austin Abbott. Not complete; only two volumes published. Well reported, as far as it goes, with many valuable notes by Mr. Abbott. George W. Smith & Co., publishers, New York.

Belknap, William W. Trial on impeachment for receiving bribes as Secretary of War. Before the United States Senate, 1876. Washington. Government Printing Office.

Billingham, John. London, 1812. Murder of Mr. Percival, Prime Minister of Great Britain. Defense, insanity. Not very elaborate, though somewhat scarce. Publisher's name not given. See 6 Celebrated Trials, page 102; Maudsley on Responsibility in Mental Disease (Appleton & Co.'s edition), 92.

Billings, Jesse, Jr. Closing argument by Nathaniel C. Moak at Ballston, Spa., Oct. 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11, 1878, in behalf of the people, in the case of Jesse Billings, Jr., charged with shooting his wife through the window of his residence just at twilight in the evening of June 4, 1878. With the charge of Hon. Judson S. Landon, presiding Justice. The claim on the part of the people was that defendant ran a considerable distance into a back lot to an old well, threw the gun therein, jumped into his wagon, standing in a lane near the well, and drove rapidly to a neighbor's. Defense an alibi and that the piece of lead found in the skull of deceased was not of sufficient weight for the calibre of a bullet for the gun found in the well. The people claimed the deficiency of lead was thrown off in the passage of the ball through the skull. The question of time entered largely into the case.

Privately printed. Weed, Parsons & Co., Albany, 1878.

Black, Harry Crawford, for the murder, by shooting, of Col. William W. McKaig at Cumberland Court House, Maryland, October 17, 1871, for the alleged seduction of his sister. Tried, Frederick City, in April, 1871. Printer's name not given. Copies can probably be obtained of David F. Smith, Frederick, Md.

Bland, Mary, 1752. Murder of her father by arsenical poisoning. Faulkner, Dublin, 1752.

Boorns, Jesse and Stephen, Manchester, Vt., 1819. Murder. One of the most celebrated murder cases ever tried. The prisoners were convicted on a very strong chain of circumstantial evidence and confessed the murder, giving the circumstances in detail. The man alleged to have been murdered subsequently appeared in time, at Manchester, to save the execution of the prisoners. By Leonard Sargent, Manchester, Vermont. Journal Office, Printers. See 7 Bentham's works (Bowring's ed.), 68-9, Book V, chap. 15, sec. 2, sub. 2; 5 Law Reporter, 193; 1 Sargeant's Dealings with the Dead, 301-333; Mysteries of Crime, page 398. Wilkie Collins's tale entitled "The Dead Alive" (After Dark and other Stories), was founded upon this trial.

Boston Massacre. History of the Boston Massacre, 1770, and trial of the Soldiers by Frederic Kidder. Contains many authorities cited by counsel as to duty of soldiers to obey superiors; right to fire upon a mob; right of self defence, etc. Joel Munsell, Publisher, Albany, N. Y., 1870.

Brandeth, Jeremiah and others, Derby, England, 1817. Treason. 2 vols. By William Brodie Gurney. Butterworth & Son, Publishers, London.

Breaches of privileges; Cases of, in New York Assembly from 1777 to 1871; compiled by C. W. Armstrong, clerk. The Argus Company, Publishers, Albany, N. Y.

Bright, General Michael, and others, Philadelphia, 1809. Before Circuit Court of the U. S., for obstructing, resisting and opposing a writ of arrest issued out of the U. S. District Court. By Thomas Lloyd P. Byrne, Publisher, Philadelphia.

Brooks, Erastus, & Hughes, Archbishop. Controversy as to the church property bill. By W. S. Tisdale, 1855. DeWitt & Davenport, Publishers, New York.

Brooke, Henry. Tragedies on the land. Authentic account of awful murders with a report of trial and judge's charge from 1823 to 1840, inclusive. N. C. Nafis, New York, and John B. Perry. Philadelphia. Published 1845.

Brown, John, Charlestown, Va., 1859. Invasion of Virginia at Harper's Ferry. A celebrated trial; the facts connected therewith are too well known to require repetition. There are two editions, both good, of this trial. One by Thomas Drew, published by James Campbell, Boston; the other by Robert M. DeWitt of New York. The first is more technically a history of the invasion. The second has more of the trial.

Budge, Rev. Henry, Rome, N. Y., 1861. Murder of his wife Priscilla by cutting her throat. Defense suicide. Review of case by John Swinburne, M. D., showing capacity of persons for exertion after cutting throat; extent to which blood may or should be thrown; character of cut in suicide and in homicide; extent of bleeding when cut in health and also when life partially extinct, etc., etc. An excellent article in such cases. Transactions, N. Y. State Medical Society, 1862, pages 23-124. Also separately published.

Also entire and unabridged evidence given on second inquest, pp. 184. Lowville, N. Y., 1860.

Burch, Isaac H., vs. Burch, Mary W., Napierville, Ills., 1860. A celebrated divorce case. Robert M. DeWitt, New York, Publisher.

Burr, Aaron, Richmond, Va., 1807. Conspiring against the United States Government. A celebrated case. Best edition in 2 vols., by David Robertson, published in 1808 by Hopkins & Erle, Philadelphia. A very good reprint, from the edition of Robertson in 2 vols., 1879, by F. D. Linn & Co., Jersey City. A condensed report by J. J. Coomba, published by W. & O. H. Morrison, Washington, D. C., 1864. This trial contains, what we had not until very recently found elsewhere, an adjudication by the Supreme Court of the United States that the affidavit upon which the committing magistrate issues a warrant for the arrest of an alleged offender may be sworn to before any other officer authorized to take affidavits. 1 Robertson's Burr, pages 24, 97. Since so held in State vs. Mullen, 52 Missouri Reports, 430. See, however, ex parte Huget, 12 Cox's Criminal Cases, 551, 556, 8 Eng. Rep. 595, 600.

Carawan, George W., Beaufort Co., N. C., 1853. Murder of Clement H. Lassiter, by shooting; defense, an alibi, turning upon length of time defendant was claimed to have been absent. The prisoner, who had led a life of criminal intimacy with women other than his wife, was convicted, attempted in open court, to shoot one of the counsel for the State, and then fatally shot himself, while an officer had hold of his pistol. The accused had claimed to be very religious and devout. He had falsely charged the deceased with intimacy with his wife, and had endeavored to procure the arrest of deceased, for alleged rape but the magistrates before whom complaints were made, not believing the charge refused to allow the wife to perjure herself. Fleming, Eliza, London, 1815. Poisoning master's family (Mr. Turner's) by mixing arsenic with the dough of dumplings. This is a celebrated case many believing she was innocent and wrongly convicted and executed. Published by William Hone, London, 1815. See, also, 6 Celebrated Trials, p. 154; Burke's Romance of the Forum, page 202; Paget's Judicial Puzzles. In a copy of Celebrated Trials (vol. 6, page 154), now owned by Mr. Moak, formerly by Mr. Ransome, of St. Peter's Square, Manchester, is this MS. entry: "A son of Turner's family has recently died miserably in Ipswich gaol, or workhouse, confessing that he put arsenic into a pudding to poison that family. Liverpool Chronicle, May, 1829."

Fero, Elisha B., Delhi, N. Y., 1869. Murder, by shooting his wife. Defense that she was accidentally shot, at night, by a robber, who was holding a pistol at prisoner, lying in bed with his wife, while the robber was stealing the prisoner's pocket-book from under his pillow. Her skull was extensively fractured on both sides. The theory of the defense was that the injuries on the side opposite that on which the ball entered were by contre-coup. The defendant was acquitted. The trial resulted in two able articles, one by Dr. Charles H. Porter, who had testified in favor of the defense (see 4 Journal Psychological Medicine, page 291), and one by Dr. George T. Stevens, who had testified in favor of the prosecution (see 4 Journal Psychological Medicine, page 796). These articles are very interesting and instructive; both gentlemen having cited every available authority upon several medical and surgical subjects discussed, such as contre-coup, suggillations, wounds from bullets, fracture of skull on post-mortems, etc. The evidence was reported in the Albany Argus, commencing September 23, 1869.

Filkins, John I. For shooting Halpine, a messenger of the American Express, in the car at Albany, N. Y., on the 6th day of January, 1871, and robbing the messenger's box. A very curious and interesting case, involving many principles of circumstantial evidence. Reported only in the Albany papers for March, 1871. See Hadley, William J.; Moak, Nathaniel C.; Peckham, R. W., and Rosendale, Simon W.

Forrest, Catharine N. v. Edwin Forrest, New York, 1851-2. This is the famous divorce case against Forrest, the eminent tragedian, wherein Charles O'Connor appeared for the plaintiff and John Van Buren for the defendant. An excellent trial; well reported. Robert M. De Witt, Publisher, New York. The case was repeatedly before the courts in banc, 25 N. Y. Rep. 501; 6 Duer, 102; 8 Bosworth, 640; 9 id. 686; 8 id. 661; 5 id. 672; 10 Barbour, 46; 3 Code Reporter, 254.

Freeman, William. Auburn, N. Y., 1846. Murder of the Van Ness family. This is a celebrated case in which Wm. H. Seward, ex-Governor of the State, and subsequently United States Secretary of State, defended the negro Freeman on the ground of insanity, notwithstanding the prejudice against his color and race, although his real motive was probably as much to defend Dr. Amariah Brigham, Superintendent of the New York State Lunatic Asylum, from the anticipated attacks of John Van Buren, Attorney-General. Reported by Benjamin F. Hall. Derby Miller & Co., Auburn, N. Y., Publishers. Reported in banc, 4 Denio Rep. 9. See 1 Law Reporter (Boston), N. S. 289.

Gordon, George E. Albany, N. Y., 1865. Murder of Owen Thompson, a drover, for his money. Official case. A remarkable case of circumstantial evidence where defendant was identified by his voice and by his having, on two occasions, one the day of the murder, and again, subsequently after his escape on the cars, remarked to a drover named Genter (33 N. Y. Reports, 503-4), "Haven't I seen you behind a bar?" The conviction was subsequently reversed. (33 N. Y. Reports, 501, where the facts are quite fully stated.) On a retrial Gordon was, by the perverse and strange conduct of a single juror in refusing to agree to a verdict of murder in the first degree, convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to the State prison for life. One of the most brutal murders ever committed. See Smith, Henry.

Hare, Joseph T. and Lewis, and John Alexander. Tried in United States Circuit Court, Baltimore, May, 1818, for robbing the mail near Havre de Grace, Maryland, March 11, 1818. William Wood was also tried as accessory. Is frequently cited as the trial of the "Mail Robbers." William Wirt and Reverdy Johnson were among the counsel for the government and David Hoffman and General William H. Winder for the defendants. The trial contains speeches by them. Defendants stood mute, refusing, after advice of counsel, to plead. The effect of their doing so was discussed at great length, and the court decided the trial should proceed as if they had pleaded not guilty. In Wood's case the court arrested judgment because the indictment, though found in the Circuit Court, was not found in the District where prisoner's offense was committed, he having been accessory only at Philadelphia and not in the State of Maryland. Published by Edward J. Coale. Printed by Kennedy & Magaurin, Baltimore, 1818. Its substance is contained in 2 Wheeler's Criminal Cases, 283-344.

Hendrickson, John. Albany, N. Y., 1853. Murder of his wife, Maria, by poisoning her with aconite. By David M. Barnes and Winfield S. Hevenor. Weed, Parsons & Co., Printers. This is a celebrated case. It has been severely criticised and warmly supported by eminent gentlemen, some of whom contend the tests for aconite were unsatisfactory and unreliable, and that its presence was not satisfactorily proven, and others that the evidence was reliable and satisfactory. One review, by Dr. Charles A. Lee, is very elaborate, and contains 45 pages. To this Dr. John Swinburne, one of the witnesses for the people, rejoined in the Medical and Surgical Reporter by an article of 16 pages. See also Annual of Scientific Discovery, 1865, page 243. The case went to the highest courts of the State. 10 New York Reports, 13; 9 Howard's Prac. Rep. 155; 1 Parker's Criminal Reports, 396; 8 Howard's Prac. Reports, 404.

Rubenstein, Pasach N. Brooklyn, N. Y., 1876. Murder in killing Sarah Alexander, his mistress, by stabbing in the neck and breast (page 26) to avoid publicity from anticipated birth of a child. Defense, alibi. Defendant committed suicide by starvation. A valuable trial; counsel discussing various questions and citing many authorities. Baker, Voorhis & Co., Publishers. New York.

Ruloff, Edward H. Binghamton, N. Y., 1871. Murder by shooting Frederick A. Myrrick, clerk in a store, while Ruloff and others were robbing it at night. The other robbers were drowned in attempting to swim across the river. Ruloff had been once tried for the murder of his wife and convicted, but the sentence was reversed on the ground that the body had never been found. 3 Parker's Criminal Reports, 401; 18 New York Reports, 179. In his confession (present trial, pages 95-9) he says he struck her in a passion with the pestle of a mortar in which he pounded medicines; that he endeavored to bring her to life but failing to do so he wrapped her remains in some bedticking and a couple of sheets, put them in a large chest, placed some flatirons and the mortar in the chest, so it would sink, took it to the west side of Cayuga lake, where he found a boat, rowed out into the lake and sunk the chest. He insisted (pages 99-101) his child was still living. The present case is also briefly reported, 11 Abbott's Practice Reports (N. S.), 245. On appeal this judgment was affirmed. 5 Lansing's Reports, 261; 45 New York Reports, 261. The argument of Hon. Marshall B. Champlain, Attorney-General, for the people, was privately printed by the Argus Company, Albany, N. Y. Trial published by Carl & Freeman, Binghamton, N. Y. A corpse had been dug up and placed in the burning building. Goss, who was a drunken fellow, threatened Udderzook with exposure and to avoid that he murdered Goss near Pentonville, Westchester Co., Pa., July 11, 1873, by stabbing him and cutting his throat. The conviction was affirmed, on appeal, 76 Penn. SKETCH OF THE ENGLISH COURTS

AND THEIR PRESENT ORGANIZATION.*

In order to understand the changes made by the Judicature Acts of 1873 and 1875, it is necessary to consider briefly the formation and powers of the courts in England before the passage of those acts, and then to show the changes effected thereby. We proceed, firstly, to show the construction and powers of such courts before those acts, and, secondly, to show the changes wrought by the Judicature Acts.

Before those acts the courts of England, material to be inquired of, were:

THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

The House of Lords was, as a general rule, a tribunal of appeal, in all cases of common law or equity, commenced in England, Ireland or Scotland, such appeal being original, or after the intervention of a previous appeal to another court, as the case might be. It was the court of last resort, from whose judgment no further appeal was permitted, and every subordinate tribunal was bound to conform to its determinations.

There was no appeal to the House of Lords from the Ecclesiastical, Maritime or Prize Courts in England, nor from India or any of the colonies. The appeal in such cases was to the Queen in Council and was heard before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

This, according to Sir Edward Coke (4 Inst., 53), was a noble, honorable and reverend assembly of the King, and such as he willed to be of his Privy Council, in the King's Court or Palace.

His will was the sole constituent of a Privy Councillor and this also regulated their number. The Privy Council was formerly dissolved by the death of the sovereign; but by statute (6 Anne, chap. 7), the Privy Council continues for six months after the demise of the sovereign, unless sooner determined by his successor. So far as the present inquiry is concerned it may be stated that the Privy Council had in certain cases the judicial authority of a court of justice: 1. In Colonial causes; this was both original and appellate; 2. In appeals from the Lord Chancellor in matters of lunacy; 3. In appeals from the ecclesiastical or maritime courts; 4. In applications to prolong the term of patents for new inventions, and in certain cases arising out of the copyright acts.

* This sketch is copyrighted as the preface to Vol. 15 of Mr. Moak's edition of the English Reports and is here published by permission.

Under the provisions of modern statutes all the judicial authority of the Privy Council was exercised by a select number of its members, called the Judicial Committee, which heard the allegations and proofs and made its report thereon to "Her Majesty in Council" by whom the judgment was finally given. By statute (3 & 4 William IV, chap. 41, sec. 1; 14 & 15 Vict. chap. 83, sec. 15), this committee consisted of the President of the Council, the Lord Chancellor, and the Lord Justices of the Appeal in Chancery, if of the Privy Council, the Lord Keeper or First Commissioner of the Great Seal, the Lord Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench, the Master of the Rolls, the Vice-Chancellors, the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, the Lord Chief Baron of the Court of Exchequer, the Judge of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, the Judge of the High Court of Admiralty, the Chief Judge in Bankruptcy and also all persons who were members of His Majesty's Privy Council, who should have been president thereof, or should have held the office of Lord Chancellor or any of the offices before mentioned. Two other persons, being members of the Council, might also be appointed by the Crown to be members of the Judicial Committee. No matter could be heard or report made unless in the presence of at least three of the committee, exclusive of the Lord President for the time being.

By 34 and 35 Vict. chap. 91 (Aug. 21, 1871), the Queen was authorized to appoint four additional persons members of the Judicial committee of the Privy Council who should be, or should have been, judges of the Superior Courts at Westminster, or a Chief Justice of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, or Madras or Bombay.

It was further provided that if any person appointed under that act was at the date of his appointment a judge as aforesaid, he should vacate his office as such judge, but his pension should remain the same as if no such appointment had been made, and that each should receive a salary of five thousand pounds per annum. It was further provided that the paid members of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council should hold their offices notwithstanding the demise of the crown, but they should be removable by Her Majesty, her heirs or successors, upon the address of both Houses of Parliament.

THE HIGH COURT OF CHANCERY.

This court might properly be divided into four heads:

1. The Lord High Chancellor.
2. The Court of Appeal in Chancery.
3. The Master of the Rolls.
4. The Vice-Chancellors.

First. The jurisdiction and duties of the Lord Chancellor are too well known to require a detailed enumeration thereof. They are given in the "Practice in Chancery," Choyce Cases in Chancery (57-61). An appeal would lie from his judgments to the House of Lords, Second. The Court of Appeal in Chancery.—An addition was also made (14 & 15 Vict. chap. 83; 30 & 31 Vict. chap. 64) of two judges called the Lord Justices of the Court of Appeal in Chancery; which court consisted of the Lord Chancellor together with these judges and which possessed all the jurisdiction exercised by the Lord Chancellor himself, so far as his judicial business, in Chancery, was concerned, without prejudice, however, to his right to sit, as formerly, alone.

To this court, the powers of which might be exercised not only by its full body, but by either of its judges together with the Lord Chancellor, or by both the judges (or for some purpose by either of them sitting separately) apart from the Lord Chancellor. An appeal from the Master of the Rolls or from any of the Vice-Chancellors might be referred to it, or such appeal might be entertained by the Lord Chancellor, sitting alone, in his proper jurisdiction. This court also entertained appeals in bankruptcy. From these jurisdictions an ultimate appeal might be taken to the House of Lords.

Third. The Master of the Rolls.—The judicial duties of the Court of Chancery had been long shared, in some measure, by an officer of high rank called the Master of the Rolls who was originally appointed only for the superintendence of the writs and records appertaining to its common law department, but accustomed to sit also on the equity side as a separate, though a subordinate, judge. By statute (3 Geo. II, chap. 30), passed to settle divers disputes, it was enacted that all orders and decrees by him made, except such as by the course of the court were appropriated to the great seal alone, should be deemed to be valid, subject nevertheless to be discharged or altered by the Lord Chancellor. By a subsequent statute (3 and 4 William IV, chap. 94, § 24), the Master of the Rolls (subject to the same qualification) was especially directed to hear motions, pleas and demurrers, as well as causes generally which should be set down before him. Appeal might be taken from his judgment and was heard by the Lord Chancellor or the Court of appeal in Chancery, as heretofore stated. The origin of this officer, his oath of office and the duties of the incumbent are fully given in the "Practice in Chancery," Choyce Cases in Chancery (61-66).

Fourth. The Vice-Chancellors.—The increase of business in the Court of Chancery rendered it necessary that an assistant to the Lord Chancellor, in his judicial functions, should be appointed. One was accordingly appointed in 1813 with the title of Vice-Chancellor. In 1841, after the transfer of the equity business of the Court of Exchequer to the High Court of Chancery, two more Vice-Chancellors were added to its judicial list. They sat and acted separately. An appeal from the decision of either might be taken, which was heard by the Lord Chancellor alone, by the Lord Chancellor sitting with the Lord Justices, or by the Lord Justices alone as heretofore stated.

COMMON LAW COURTS.

There were three courts of common law jurisdiction; the Court of King's or Queen's Bench, the Court of Common Pleas, and the Court of Exchequer, which, when mentioned collectively, were usually called the Superior Courts of the Common Law, and when taken in connection with the High Court of Chancery, were called the Courts at Westminster.

The judges were the legal advisers of the House of Lords and were frequently called upon by that body for their opinions upon questions of law before it.

THE QUEEN'S BENCH.

The sovereign formerly sat in this court, in person, and hence it was called the King's Bench in the reign of a king and the Queen's Bench in the reign of a queen.

It was the Supreme Court of Common Law in the kingdom and consisted of a Chief Justice, styled the Chief Justice of England, and five puisne justices. Its jurisdiction was very high and transcendent. It kept all courts of inferior jurisdiction within the bounds of their authority, and might either remove their proceedings, to be therein determined, or prohibit their progress below. It superintended all civil corporations in the kingdom, and commanded magistrates and others to do what their duty required in every case where there was no other specific remedy. It protected the liberty of the subject by speedy and summary interposition.

It took cognizance of both criminal and civil causes; the former on what was called the crown side; the latter on the plea side of the court. On the crown side it had jurisdiction of all criminal offenses, from the highest to the lowest; on the plea side, or civil branch, it enjoyed (though originally by usurpation, as in the case of the Exchequer) a general jurisdiction and cognizance over all actions between subject and subject — those of the real class only excepted. It did not meddle, however, with matters of revenue. Proceedings in error might be taken from this court into the Exchequer Chamber.

THE COMMON PLEAS.

By the charter of King John, confirmed and acted upon by Henry III, the Court of Common Pleas was directed to be held "in some certain place." This court had jurisdiction of and heard causes between private individuals — of all actions between subject and subject. It was sometimes technically called the Court of Common Bench. Its judges were six in number: one Chief Justice and five puisne: and from a judgment in this court, proceedings in error might be taken into the Exchequer Chamber. It has always been considered the principal seat of learning relative to ordinary actions between man and man and is styled by Coke (4 Inst., 99), "the lock and the key of common law."

THE COURT OF EXCHEQUER.

This court was at first intended, principally, to order the revenues of the crown and to recover the king's debts and duties, though it had since acquired — originally by usurpation — the additional character of an ordinary court of justice.

It was called the Exchequer from the chequed cloth, resembling a chess board, which covered the table there, and on which, when certain of the king's accounts were made up, the sums were marked and scored with counters.

This court was from the time of the separation of the Exchequer from the aula regia down to 1841, subdivided into a court of equity and of common law.

In 1841 its powers and jurisdiction as a court of equity were transferred to the Court of Chancery. It consisted of a revenue side, and of a common law, or plea side. As a court of law, on the revenue side, it ascertained and enforced, by proceedings appropriate to the case, the proprietary rights of the crown against the subjects of the realm; in the capacity of a court of common law on the plea side, it administered redress between subject and subject in all actions personal though not in real actions. Its judges were termed Barons and were six in number, one of whom was styled the Chief Baron.

Proceedings to correct any error that might be found in the judgment of this court might be taken into the Exchequer Chamber.

THE EXCHEQUER CHAMBER.

This court was a court for the review of judgments of the Courts of Queen's Bench, Common Pleas and Exchequer.

It consisted of all the judges of the three last named courts; and occasionally the Lord Chancellor. In review of a judgment of the court below, the judges of the court in which the judgment was rendered did not sit; so that on appeal from the Common Pleas, the judges of the King's Bench and the barons of the Exchequer composed the court; on appeal from the King's Bench the judges of the Common Pleas and the barons of the Exchequer, and on appeal from the Exchequer the judges of the Common Pleas and the King's Bench.

From the judgment of the Exchequer Chamber proceedings in error might be taken to the House of Lords. The decisions of the Exchequer Chamber were published with those of the court from which the appeal was taken.

THE COURT FOR CROWN CASES RESERVED.

By statute, certain trial courts of Criminal Jurisdiction — Courts of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery, or Quarter Sessions — when the court found in the case questions of law too difficult to determine, might reserve the question and state it in the form of a special case for the consideration and judgment of the judges of the superior courts, and in the meantime postpone the judgment or respite the execution of it as might be thought fit. The question was then considered and decided by the judges of the Superior Courts of the Common Law. This court was sometimes called the Court of Criminal Appeal. It had no jurisdiction of cases arising on demurrer, and there was no appeal from its judgments (Regina v. Faderman, 3 Car. & Kirw. 353; 4 Cox, 859).

THE CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

There was a court called the Central Criminal Court, for the trial of offenses committed in London, Middlesex and certain suburban parts of Essex, Surry and Kent, composed of the Lord Mayor of London; the Lord Chancellor or Lord Keeper; the Judges of the Courts at Westminster; the Judge of the Admiralty; the Dean of the Arches, the Aldermen of London; the Recorder and Common Serjeant of London; the Judge of the Sheriff's Court there; any person who had been Lord Chancellor or Lord Keeper, or a judge of any of the courts at Westminster, and such others as the crown shall from time to time appoint. The crown was authorized to issue a commission of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery to such court, and the judges or any two or more of them held a session in the city of London, or the suburbs thereof, at least twelve times in every year. The Court of Queen's Bench might also remove into that court any indictment in any inferior court for a crime committed in a place out of the jurisdiction of the Central Criminal Court and order the trial thereof to be had at the Central Criminal Court, provided it appeared expedient to the ends of justice that such course be taken. The Central Criminal Court was usually held by one or more of the Judges of the Superior Courts of Law, the Common Serjeant and the Judge of the Sheriff's Court.

ADMIRALTY COURTS.

The Maritime Courts consisted of the High Court of Admiralty and its Court of Appeal. In Her Majesty's possessions, beyond seas, there were also established courts called Vice Admiralty Courts having jurisdiction over a variety of maritime cases.

The High Court of Admiralty, held by the Judge of Admiralty,—the Judge of the Court of Probate may by a recent statute sit for him—had jurisdiction and power to try and determine all maritime causes, that is, such injuries as are committed on the high seas. An appeal might be taken from judgments of the High Court of Admiralty or the Vice Admiralty Courts to the Privy Council.

PROBATE COURTS.

The powers of a Court of Probate, substantially as understood by such a court in this country, were formerly exercised by the ecclesiastical courts. By statute, however, such powers were transferred to a court called the Court of Probate which sat in London or Middlesex. The judge thereof was required to be an "advocate or barrister," and was appointed by patent under the great seal. An appeal would lie from its judgments to the House of Lords. Prior to the creation of this court the jurisdiction conferred thereon was exercised by the Prerogative Court, in each province, held before a judge appointed by the Archbishop thereof, for administering justice in testamentary matters, viz., those relating to probate and administration and in those only. Its jurisdiction arose in the case (an extremely frequent one) where the deceased left bona notabilia in different dioceses. As in this case the matter could not be disposed of in any single diocese, the Archbishop claimed the jurisdiction by way of special prerogative.

DIVORCE COURTS.

By statute, a court called the "Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes" was created, to be held (when full) before the Lord Chancellor, the judges of the Superior Courts together with the judge of the Court of Probate. The latter was judge in ordinary of the court, and when thus sitting alone was authorized to exercise in general the powers and duties of the full court.

ECCLESIASTICAL COURTS.

These courts had, it may be stated generally, jurisdiction of ecclesiastical questions and an appeal would lie from the highest of them to the Privy Council.

THE COURT OF ARCHES.

This court was a court of appeal belonging to the Archbishop of Canterbury, whereof the judge (who sat as deputy to the Archbishop), was called the Dean of the Arches; because he anciently held his court in the church of St. Mary-le-bow, though this court is now holden at Westminster. His proper jurisdiction was over the thirteen peculiar parishes belonging to the Archbishop of London; but the office of Dean of the Arches having been for a long time united with that of the Archbishop's principal official, he in right of the last mentioned office (as doth also the principal official of the Archbishop of York), received and determined appeals from the sentences of all inferior ecclesiastical courts within the province. Many suits, also, were brought before him as original judge, the cognizance of which properly belonged to inferior jurisdictions within the province, but in respect to which the inferior judge had waived his jurisdiction, under a certain form of proceeding known in the canon law by the denomination of letters of request. From the Court of Arches, and from the parallel Court of Appeal in the province of York, an appeal would lie to the Privy Council. The Court of Arches and the Court of Appeal in York are not affected by the Judicature Act. By statute 8 & 4 Vict. ch. 65, the Dean of the Arches was declared to be an assistant to, and to be competent to sit for, the judge of the High Court of Admiralty in all suits and proceedings in the said court. We have not been able to discover that this has been changed by the Judicature Act.

THE CONSISTORY COURTS.

The Consistory Court of the Bishop was held in the several cathedrals, for the trial of all ecclesiastical causes arising within the diocese. The Chancellor of the diocese, or his commissary, was the judge, and from his sentence an appeal would lie, by virtue of 24 Hen. VIII, ch. 12, to the Archbishop of each province respectively. We do not discover that they are affected by the recent acts.

EFFECT OF THE JUDICATURE ACTS.

Such was the condition of the courts prior to the Judicature Acts.

We proceed, secondly, to consider the changes therein, wrought thereby.

By the act termed the "Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1873," and the amendments, the Supreme Court of Judicature is to consist of two permanent divisions, one of which under the name of "Her Majesty's High Court of Justice," shall have and exercise original jurisdiction, with such appellate jurisdiction from inferior courts as are therein mentioned, and the other of which, under the name of "Her Majesty's Court of Appeal," shall have and exercise appellate jurisdiction.

For all practical purposes here (by 39 and 40 Vict., chap. 59, § 6) the HOUSE OF LORDS retains its powers and functions to hear appeals from "Her Majesty's Court of Appeal in England, and from the courts of Scotland and Ireland."

By section 6, it is provided that for the purpose of aiding the House of Lords in the hearing and determination of appeals Her Majesty may appoint two qualified persons to be Lords of Appeal in ordinary, who must have been for at least two years of some one or more of the offices described in the act as high judicial officers, or have been for not less than fifteen years a practicing barrister in England or Ireland, or a practicing advocate in Scotland. They are to receive a salary of six thousand pounds a year. If a Privy Councillor he is to be a member of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council and to sit and to act as such. By section 14, upon the death or resignation of any two of the paid judges of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, Her Majesty is authorized to appoint another Lord of Appeal in ordinary, and upon the death or resignation of the other two of said paid judges, she may appoint still another.

By 38 and 39 Vict., § 4 of chap. 77 as amended by 39 and 40 Vict., § 15 of chap. 59, "HER MAJESTY'S COURT OF APPEAL," which practically takes the place of the Exchequer Chamber in appeals in common law actions, and also hears appeals in Chancery, previously heard by the Chancellor or by the Court of Appeal in Chancery in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, and of the same court as a Court of Appeal in Bankruptcy (§ 18, act of 1873), is to consist of five ex officio judges, consisting of the Lord Chancellor as president, the Lord Chief Justice of England, the Master of the Rolls, the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas and the Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and six ordinary judges of the Court of Appeal, the first three additional judges to be made by transfer to the Court of Appeal of three judges of the High Court of Justice. Her Majesty may, by writing under her sign manual, transfer to the Court of Appeal from the Divisions of the High Court of Justice, that is to say, the Queen's Bench Division, the Common Pleas Division and the Exchequer Division not exceeding three judges in number, as to Her Majesty shall seem meet; and every judge so transferred shall be deemed an additional ordinary judge of the Court of Appeal. Every additional ordinary judge shall be under an obligation to go Circuits and to act as Commissioner under commissions of Assize or other commissions authorized to be issued in the same manner in all respects as if he were a Judge of the High Court of Justice. The ordinary judges of the Court of Appeal are to be styled, by the act of 1877, Lords Justices of Appeal.

By section 16 orders for constituting and holding divisional courts of the Court of Appeal (to consist of two or three and no more of the judges thereof, § 40, act 1878), and for the regulating of the sitting of the Court of Appeal and of the divisional Courts of Appeal may be made and rescinded by the President of the Court of Appeal, with the concurrence of the ordinary judges of the Court of Appeal or any three of them. No judge of the Court of Appeal shall sit as a judge, on the hearing of an appeal from any judgment or order made by himself or made by any divisional court of the High Court of which he was and is a member. Every appeal to the Court of Appeal from a final determination must be heard by at least three judges, and from an interlocutory order by not less than two.

THE HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE consisted of five divisions as follows:

1. The CHANCERY DIVISION, consisting of the Lord Chancellor, who shall be President, the Master of the Rolls, and the Vice-Chancellors of the Court of Chancery, or such of them as shall not be appointed ordinary judges of the Court of Appeal. By an act passed April 24, 1877 (12 L. J. 251), a new judge to be in the same position as if he had been appointed a puisse judge of the High Court under the Supreme Court of Judicature Acts (1873 and 1875) was to be appointed. He is to be attached to the Chancery Division. The puisse judges are to be styled Justices of the High Court.

By section 3 of the act of 1875, the Lord Chancellor is not to be deemed to be a permanent judge of the High Court of Justice.

2. The QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION, consisting of the Lord Chief Justice of England, who shall be President, and such of the other judges of the Court of Queen's Bench as shall not be appointed ordinary judges of the Court of Appeal.

3. The COMMON PLEAS DIVISION, consisting of the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, who shall be President thereof, and such of the other judges of the Court of Common Pleas as shall not be appointed ordinary judges of the Court of Appeal.

4. The EXCHEQUER DIVISION, consisting of the Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, who shall be President thereof, and such of the Barons of the Court of Exchequer as shall not be appointed ordinary judges of the Court of Appeal.

Divisional courts of the High Court of Justice may be held for the transaction of any business which may for the time being be ordered by rules of any court to be heard by a divisional court to be constituted of two of the judges of the court and no more unless the President of the Division to which such divisional court belongs, with the concurrence of the other judges of such Division, or a majority thereof, is of opinion that such divisional court should be constituted of a greater number of judges than two, in which case such court shall be constituted of such number of judges as the President, with such concurrence as aforesaid, may think expedient. By section 32 of the Judicature act of 1873 the Queen, by order in council, was authorized to reduce the number of divisions of the High Court and to provide for the abolition of the offices of Chief Justice of the Common Pleas and Chief Baron of the Exchequer. Commencing January 1, 1881, the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas and Exchequer divisions were consolidated into one division called the Queen's Bench Division, the offices of Chief Justice of the three were abolished and a Chief Justice of the consolidated division (Sir John Duke Coleridge) appointed with the title of the "Lord Chief Justice of England."

CROWN CASES RESERVED, under 11 and 12 Vict., chap. 78 and amendments, are (§ 43) to be heard by the judges of the High Court of Justice, or five of them at the least, of whom the Lord Chief Justice of England, the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, and the Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, or one of such chiefs at least, shall be part. Their determination is final and without appeal save for some error of law upon the record as to which no question shall have been reserved for the consideration of said judges under 11 and 12 Vict. Its decisions are reported with those of the Queen's Bench Division.

5. The PROBATE, DIVORCE, AND ADMIRALTY DIVISION, consisting of two judges, one of whom shall be the Judge of the Court of Probate and of the Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes and the Judge of the High Court of Admiralty. The Judge of the Court of Probate shall be the President of the said Division and, subject thereto, the senior judge of the said Division.

The series of reports, commencing January 1, 1876, and ending January 1, 1881, in Alphabetical order, is as follows :

APPEAL CASES. Cases decided by the House of Lords and Privy Council.

CHANCERY DIVISION. Cases decided by that Division.

COMMON PLEAS DIVISION. Cases decided by that Division.

EXCHEQUER DIVISION. Cases decided by that Division.

PROBATE DIVISION. Cases decided by the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division.

QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION. Cases decided by that Division, and also Crown Cases Reserved.

The cases decided by the COURT OF APPEAL are reported with the cases of the Division from which the appeal was taken.

They are indicated at the head as, "In the Court of Appeal," or by the letters "C.A."

The different reports are quoted as follows :

- 1 Appeal Cases, or 1 App. Cas.
- 1 Chancery Division, or 1 Ch. Div.
- 1 Common Pleas Division, or 1 C. P. Div.
- 1 Exchequer Division, or 1 Ex. Div.
- 1 Probate Division, or 1 P. Div.
- 1 Queen's Bench Division, or 1 Q. B. Div.

Since the consolidation of the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer Division, January 1, 1881, the three divisions are reported together in one series called the "Queen's Bench Division," the numbers of that division being continued, and the volume for 1881 numbered "6," and quoted as "6 Q. B. Div." All the divisions except Common Pleas and Exchequer are continued.

Beginning with 1891 the several series are cited by the year and volume, the continuous volume number having ceased with 1890.

LAW TERMS.

By the Act 1, William IV, cap. 10, it is provided that, in A. D. 1831, and afterwards,—

HILARY TERM shall begin on the 11th, and end on the 31st January.

EASTER TERM shall begin on the 15th April, and end on the 8th May.

TRINITY TERM shall begin on the 22d May, and end on the 12th June.

MICHAELMAS Term shall begin on the 2d, and end on the 25th November.

By the Act 1 & 2, William IV, cap. 8, it was further provided, “That in case the day of the month on which any Term, according to the Act aforesaid, is to end, shall fall to be on a Sunday, then the Monday next after such day shall be deemed and taken to be the last day of the Term; and in case any of the days between the Thursday before and the Wednesday next after Easter shall fall within Easter Term, then such days shall be deemed and taken, to be a part of such Term, although there shall be no Sittings in Bank on any of such intervening days.”

The terms were provided for by order LXI, schedule 1 of the Judicature Act of 1875, Chap. 77, though they were abolished by section 26 of the Judicature Act of 1873, “so far as relates to the administration of justice,” and since January 1, 1876, they have not been noticed in the reports.

As to terms of court see further Judge David McAdams’s brochure, published in New York in 1874, entitled “Law Days or Dies Juridici, commonly called ‘Terms of Court’”; also Dugdale’s Origines Juridicales (ed. 1680), 89 et seq., and Crabb’s History of the English Law (1st Am. ed.), 35.

Though the origin of terms, the fictions relating to, and the law governing them, is yearly becoming of less and less consequence, they have frequently involved important results and important rights.

† There is an addenda frequently cited as § Popham.

‡ Book of Judgments: As they were upon solemn arguments given in the Upper Bench and Common Pleas, upon the most difficult points in all manner of actions. Small 8vo. London, 1665

"A second in real, personal and mixt actions, and upon the statute." The compiler (George Townsend) in his preface says: "I stile this a second book of judgments, there being a former book of judgments in English, published in the year 1665." Small 4to. London, 1675.

This "Second Book of Judgments" seems not to have been known to Wallace or "Marvin."

The Law Times is a Weekly Law Newspaper, large folio. The first 17 volumes contain reports of cases mingled with other matters of a legal character. Cases therein are simply cited as Law Times, vol. 1 et seq. Commencing with vol. 18 to and including vol. 41, the reports were published separately, the same size as the newspaper. They are usually bound with the newspaper, either preceding or following it, and are cited as Law Times Reports, Vols. 18, et seq. Commencing with vol. 42, the Law Times Reports have been published in octavo and should be cited as Law Times Reports (N. S.), vol. 1, et seq. The newspaper, still a large folio, was numbered on continuously, vol. 70 being now in course of publication.

* The Indian Jurist, new series, is a continuation of the Madras Jurist.

Mr. Charles C. Soule, of Boston, informs Mr. Moak that he ascertained from the Librarian of the East Indian office in London, the meaning of the terms used in the Indian Reports to be as follows:

1. Sudder, Chief or Supreme.
2. Dewanny, Civil.
3. Nizamut, Criminal.
4. Adawlut, { Court.
5. Udalet, {
6. Zillah, District or County.
7. Foujdaree, Police Magistrate or Petty Sessions.

And such Mr. Moak understands, though not expressly so stated, from Cowell's History of the Courts of India.
